CLASS OF 1874,

HARVARD COLLEGE.

SECRETARY'S REPORT, No. 6.

JUNE, 1889 — JUNE, 1894.

Property of Library of Congress

With the Compliments of

George P. Sanger,

Class Secretary.

Duplicate

Property of Lucius Cat.

SIXTH REPORT

OF THE

CLASS SECRETARY

OF THE

CLASS OF 1874

OF

HARVARD COLLEGE.

JUNE, 1889 — JUNE, 1894.

PRINTED FOR THE USE OF THE CLASS.

348670
4. 4. 38.

BOSTON:
ALFRED MUDGE & SON, PRINTERS,
No. 24 Franklin Street.
1894.

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

http://www.archive.org/details/n06reportclass1874harvuoft

CLASSMATES :

Your prompt and satisfactory replies to my request for material for this report have enabled me to now present it to you, with a full appreciation of all you have done to make it of interest to the many who greatly value these reports. This record is for the past five years, and the next report, in 1899, on the occasion of our twenty-fifth anniversary, will cover all the years since graduation. In the following pages, all the regular members of the class are accounted for, except McCann, and of the thirty-four surviving temporary members, all but nine retain their interest in the class.

During the past five years death has taken from us Corlies, Ferris, Flagg, and Savage of the regular members, and Low, Watts, and Young of the temporary members. And Haven, who so mysteriously disappeared in 1885, is now placed on the roll of deceased classmates.

The Class Fund has suffered in the general financial depression throughout the country. But we are still very well off, and ought to regain in a few years what we have lost by depreciation in the value of the securities owned by the class. In the following pages will be found the usual statements as to the finances of the class.

The only difference in the plan of this report over those previously published is to print in one table "Marriages and Children," instead of separately. One hundred and thirteen of the regular members of the class are known to have married, and these have two hundred and forty-nine sons and daughters.

Thanking you most sincerely for your hearty coöperation in the preparation of this report, it only remains for me to reiterate my best wishes for your continued success, health, and happiness.

GEORGE P. SANGER,
Class Secretary.

940 EXCHANGE BUILDING,
53 State Street,
BOSTON, June 15, 1894.

NOTE. — The asterisk (*) is used to mark the names of deceased members.

CLASS OF 1874.

James Lloyd Abbot.
William Fitzhale Abbot.
Richard Minot Allen.
*Eugene Nelson Aston. 1878
Francis Eaton Babcock.
Walter Baker.
*William Howard Baker. 1885
Charles Parker Bancroft.
Harry Hudson Barrett.
Giorgio Anacleto Bendelari.
Thomas Simms Bettens.
Woodbury Blair.
George Andrew Blaney.
Erastus Brainerd.
John Winters Brannan.
George Russell Briggs.
John Chapin Brinsmade.
Alexander Porter Browne.
Charles Thomas Buffum.
Henry Morgan Burdett.
William Appleton Burnham.
William Burry.
*James Jackson Cabot. 1875
Thomas Cary.
Edward Warren Cate.
George Herbert Cate.
Henry Arnott Chisholm.
Arthur Blake Clapp.
Henry Alden Clark.
Louis Crawford Clark.
Charles Cecil Clarke.
Samuel Belcher Clarke.
*Arthur Clifford. 1881
George Oliver George Coale.
Frederic Collins.
*Thomas Corlies. 1894
Henry Horace Crocker.
Frederic Cunningham.
Frederick Spaulding Cutter.
Paul Dana.
Richard Henry Dana.
Arthur Lithgow Devens.
*James Edward Ditson. 1881
Nathan Haskell Dole.
George Bucknam Dorr.
James Dwight.
Louis Dyer.
*William Samuel Eliot. 1874
John Wheelock Elliot.
Frank Worcester Elwood.
John Woodford Farlow.
Jacob Hamilton Farrar.
Francis Child Faulkner.
Ernest Francisco Fenollosa.
*Edward Mortimer Ferris. 1890
George Russell Fessenden.
*Bernard Whitman Flagg. 1890
Frank Byron Flanders.
Arthur William Foote.
Horace Waldo Forster.
William Whitworth Gannett.
Arthur Lewis Goodrich.
Wendell Goodwin.
Henry Rice Grant.
Ulysses Simpson Grant.
Charles Montraville Green.
Samuel Blair Griffith.
Herbert Lee Harding.
*George Irwin Haven. 1885
William Duff Haynie.
Edward Higginson.
Edward Bruce Hill.
Amory Glazier Hodges.
Nathaniel Dana Carlile Hodges.
Thomas Miller Honeywell.
Adoniram Judson Hopkins.
William David Hunt.
Jesse C. Ivy.
Walter Ingersoll Jones.
Arthur Monroe Keith.
*Charles Franklin Knowles. 1880
James Lawrence.
Frederick Lawton.
William Sherman Leland.
Joel Marvin Leonard.
*Frederic Howard Lombard. 1885
James Duane Lowell.
Herbert Warren Lull.
Frank Lyman.
Michael John McCann.
Gifford Horace Greeley McGrew.
William Gordon McMillan.
William Staples Marston.
William Castein Mason.
Edwin Gerrald Merriam.
Henry Ferdinand Merrill.
Henry Childs Merwin.
Ethelbert Smith Mills.
James Jackson Minot.
*Eugene Usher Mitchell. 1881

Henry Lee Morse.
Hosea Ballou Morse.
William Lambert Morse.
Theodore William Moses.
Henry Sanford Mudge.
Richard Cole Newton.
William Ichabod Nichols.
John Parsons.
John Sidney Patton.
Charles Sherburne Penhallow.
William May Perkins.
Marshall Livingston Perrin.
Edward Gould Peters.
Arthur Howard Pickering.
William Taggard Piper.
Sylvester Primer.
Frank Eldridge Randall.
*Nicholas Reed. 1874
Huntington Richards.
William Reuben Richards.
George Carr Richardson.
William Richmond.
George Riddle.
Arthur Landon Rives.
Henry Bellows Roberts.
Calvin Proctor Sampson.
George Partridge Sanger.
William Cary Sanger.
*Charles Wesley Savage. 1890
Robert William Sawyer.
David Sears.
Edmund Hamilton Sears.
Theodore Lovett Sewall.
George Clarence Shepard.
George Saltonstall Silsbee.
Edward Emerson Simmons.
Robert Alexander Southworth.
William Franklin Spinney.
Charles Wellington Stone.
Edwin Palmer Stone.
Frederick Joseph Stone.
Henry Straus.
Frederick Swift.
*Archibald Dick Thomas. 1881
Charles Sanders Tuckerman.
Columbus Tyler Tyler.
Harry Blake Tyler.
William Royall Tyler.
Frederick Ozni Vaille
George Willett Van Nest.
Edward Wood Walker.
William Pearson Warner.
Edward Winslow Wellington.
Frank Thaxter Wendell.
William Asa Wheeler.
George Warner White.
Edward Lawrence Whitehouse.
George Wigglesworth.
*Henry Houghton Williams. 1876
Charles Francis Withington.
David Little Withington.
Samuel Bayard Woodward.
John Palmer Wyman.
Samuel Edwin Wyman.

147 + *17 = 164

---

*Julius Kenrick Adams. 1871
*Clarence Almy. 1883
George Ashburner.
Charles Fanning Barstow.
August Belmont.
Charles Warland Bigelow.
William Gibson Colesworthy.
Edward Collins.
Arthur Norton Cram.
William Joseph Lawrence Crane.
Edgar Mora Davison.
Frank Christopher Fallon.
Henry Pembroke Fetridge.
Frederic Albert Hackett.
Arthur Dudley Hall.
Goold Hoyt.
James Keenan.
*George Rockwell Kent. 1887
Rockwell King.
Emil Washington Krackowizer.
*Chauncey Edward Low. 1890
*Charles Austin Mackintosh. 1889
Francis Henry Matthews.
George Frank Merrill.
Otis Osgood Ordway.
Edmund Quincy Sewall Osgood.
*Charles Edward Perkins. 1883
Louis Atherton Pope.
William Lawrence Porter.
John Rufus Ranney.
Benjamin Calvin Reed.
Waldo Reed.
Charles Otis Scott.
Thomas Ely Secor.
Samuel Parkman Shaw.
David Stubert Stephens.
Eugene Francis Warner.
*Joseph Warren Warren. 1885
Henry Todd Washburn.
*Charles Horace Watson. 1876
*David Watts. 1893
Hugh Lawrence White.
Perry Pentz Williams.
*Lincoln Dewey Wright. 1881
*Daniel Bechtel Young. 1893

34 + *11 = 45

RECORD OF THE CLASS.

JUNE, 1889 — JUNE, 1894.

JAMES LLOYD ABBOT.

Writes as follows: "The partnership of Dorgan & Abbot, cotton buyers, was dissolved Sept. 1, 1890, and I continued alone in the cotton buying business in Mobile, Ala., until October, 1892, when I moved to St. Louis, Mo., to accept the position of Secretary and Treasurer of the Lesser Cotton Company. While St. Louis is my nominal post-office address I have been the past winter at Newport, Ark., buying cotton, and in charge of a branch office of our company." Is married and has two children.

WILLIAM FITZHALE ABBOT.

Writes as follows: "I am still teaching in the High School in Worcester. The School has been divided and there are now two, — an English and a Classical. I am connected with the latter." Is married and has three children, — two sons and a daughter: Miriam, born April 17, 1890. Resides at 26 William Street, Worcester, Mass.

RICHARD MINOT ALLEN.

Writes as follows: "In June, 1889, I became General Manager of the Standard Cattle Company, and since that time have been in charge of the property of the company, which now consists of a steer ranch in Montana, a breeding ranch in Wyoming, and a farm in Nebraska. I live and make my headquarters at Ames, Neb., a station on the Union Pacific Railway, on our farm of sixty-five hundred acres, fifty miles from Omaha. For two years I have been trying to promote (with Oxnard of '82, who has factories in this State) the beet-sugar industry at this point, and am deeply impressed with the grave duty of the government in continuing protection to sugar. Two years ago the premature old age of the range cattle business was convulsed by a struggle with cow thieves, which has perplexed many friends, and which surprised most of us who were engaged in it. Our principle of violent correction met with a rude shock against overwhelming numbers, and the shrewd management by the rustler leaders of the actual settlers, naturally animated by the just hatred a man having ten cows feels for one who represents a herd of ten thousand. After several acts, which in their ethical aspect are still matters of distressing controversy, our campaign was brought to an ignominious close, and now survives only as a 'vital force' in the politics of that country. It will figure, this fall, along with the 'Crime of '73' and the 'Gold-bug Conspiracy.' The plain idea that it is not right to take the property of another would appear fundamental; but it must be understood that this cardinal view is qualified by conditions in a young and new country. To steal from an actual settler with twenty cattle is considered to be wrong; but to steal from a company whose stockholders live in the East is a very different thing. This (May) is now the open season with us, and within the last week I have lost one case against a man seen by our witnesses to kill a cow of ours, found by a warm-hearted jury to be 'not guilty.' He 'needed the meat.' . . . I make frequent trips to Texas to buy cattle, which being half-grown and having on them numerous huge brands, we are able to retain in our possession, providing they survive the rigors of our Northern winters." Is married.

* EUGENE NELSON ASTON. Born Nov. 22, 1851, at Middletown, Conn.; died at Springfield, Mass., Feb. 23, 1878.

See Secretary's Report, No. 3 (1880), pp. 7, 8.

FRANCIS EATON BABCOCK.

Since 1884, has continued in business in Boston, in partnership with Mr. Sargent under the firm name of Wingate P. Sargent & Babcock, as New England agents for the Gilbert Manufacturing Company's silesias, linings, etc. In 1890, moved to 35 Bedford Street, and "now have a much larger modern store, enabling us to carry on more successfully our business. Have not in any marked way contributed to the world's advancement, but have steadily, quietly, and occasionally profitably attended to my legitimate business, and hope the former high reputation of Boston merchants for honorable dealing has in no respect been impaired by my conduct." Resides at 10 East Brookline Street, Boston.

WALTER BAKER.

Was, in 1893, assistant rector of St. Paul's Cathedral Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, and residing on Grand View Avenue, Walnut Hills, one of the suburban districts of Cincinnati. Was married in 1893 to Margaret Tinney, of Winchester, England. (No report.)

★ WILLIAM HOWARD BAKER. Born Sept. 2, 1852, near Coatesville, Chester County, Pa.; died at Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 24, 1885.

See Secretary's Report, No. 5 (1889), pp. 8, 9.

CHARLES PARKER BANCROFT.

Writes as follows: "Since the last report I have remained in the position of Superintendent of the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane, at Concord, N. H. A daughter, Elizabeth, was born May 17, 1891, and a daughter, Marion, April 24, 1894. Am a member of the American Medico-Psychological Society, and of the Boston Medico-Psychological Society. Have contributed to 'Wood's Reference Handbook of the Medical Sciences' an article on the 'Opium Habit,' and in the Supplement to the same work, published in 1893, an article on 'The Physical Expression of Insanity.' Two articles reprinted in pamphlet form I originally contributed, one entitled 'An Inquiry into the Causes of Insanity, with Especial Reference to Prevention and Treatment,' to the New Hampshire Medical Society: and the other, entitled 'Automatic Muscular Movements among the Insane,' I wrote for the 'American Journal of Psychology,' published at Clark University."

HARRY HUDSON BARRETT.

Writes as follows: "Continues to practise law, with office now at Room 518 Exchange Building, 53 State Street, Boston. In 1891, was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature as a Representative from the Ninth Middlesex District." Resides in Malden, Mass.

GIORGIO ANACLETO CORRADO BENDELARI.

Since June, 1888, has been Instructor in History at Harvard. Will end his connection with the college on Commencement Day, this year.

THOMAS SIMMS BETTENS.

Since September, 1878, has been teaching in the boys' private school of Arthur H. Cutler (H. U., 1870), now at 20 East Fiftieth Street, and resides at 130 West Eighty-seventh Street, New York City.

WOODBURY BLAIR.

Is still residing in Washington, D. C., and practising law there, with offices now at Room 47 Corcoran Building.

GEORGE ANDREW BLANEY.

Writes as follows: "In April, 1891, I changed my residence from Swampscott, Mass., to West Newton, having there taken up a permanent residence. Have continued the practice of law in Boston. The partnership with Hon. Charles Robinson existed until his death in July, 1891; immediately afterwards I formed my present association with his son, Sumner Robinson (Harv. Law School, 1891), as Blaney & Robinson, with offices at 204 Sears Building. Nov. 25, 1892, I was appointed by the Governor, associate justice of the Newton Police Court. Feb. 21, 1890, a daughter, Elizabeth, was born."

ERASTUS BRAINERD.

Writes from Seattle, Wash., as follows: " . . . I remained on the staff of the Philadelphia Press until July, 1884 (the year of my last report), when I went to the Daily News of that city, of which I subsequently became editor-in-chief and proprietor. This paper was practically bankrupt when I took it, and in my constant work to build it up my health broke down completely after three successive attacks of the influenza or 'grippe' and I was obliged to completely sacrifice the property and remove to this coast in July, 1890, when I became editor of the Seattle Press and Press–Times, from which position I retired in September, 1893, to devote my time to the interests of the office of State Land Commissioner, to which I was appointed March 15, 1893. Was Consul of Paraguay at Philadelphia (1884-90). While in Europe, in 1879, was made a Knight of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem; ditto, Red Cross of Rome; ditto, Templar. While in Philadelphia was a member of the Union League, Contemporary, Penn, Triplets, Art, University, Clover, Young Republican, and Journalists Clubs of Philadelphia, and of the Authors and of the Press Clubs of New York. Am a member of the Rainier and Harvard Clubs of Seattle, and of the Chamber of Commerce. Took an active part in local politics in Philadelphia, and was concerned in the management of the candidacy of Judge Gresham, now Secretary of State, for the Republican nomination as President in 1888. Since coming to Washington have been an officer of several political organizations in Seattle, such as Vice-Chairman of City Central Committee and like offices." Besides his newspaper work, as above, he has contributed to "Harper's Magazine," the "Critic," the "American," Youth's Companion, Pall Mall Gazette, and other periodicals, literary, artistic, political, and medical. Was married in 1882 and has two children living: Mary Beale, born June 9, 1886, and Elizabeth, born April 14, 1888.

JOHN WINTERS BRANNAN.

Writes as follows: "Has continued to practise medicine in New York City, having his office at his residence, 54 West Eleventh Street. Is a member of New York County Medical Society, New York Academy of Medicine, New York Pathological Society, New York Neurological Society, New York Society of Medical Jurisprudence, Harvard Medical Society of New York City, and the American Climatological Society. Is the Medical Director of the Washington Life Insurance Company, of New York City. Is visiting physician to Bellevue Hospital, and attending physician to the Willard Parker and Riverside Hospitals. Is the President of the Medical Boards of the two latter institutions. Is also attending physician to the New York House of Mercy and the St. Saviour's Sanitarium. Holds the appointment of Clinical Lecturer in Medicine in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia College, and Instructor in General Medicine and Physical Diagnosis in the New York Postgraduate Medical School. Has published articles in the Supplement to the 'Reference Handbook of the Medical Science,' and in the Medical Record and the New York Medical Journal. Is one of the editorial staff of the latter journal. A daughter, Eleanor Doddridge, was born March 26, 1890."

GEORGE RUSSELL BRIGGS.

Writes as follows: "I have continued to live in Plymouth, Mass., and to give my time to the business of raising cranberries, having a large number of acres in Plymouth County under cultivation. June 8, 1892, I was married at New Bedford, Mass., to Helen Thornton Taber, of that city. May 26, 1893, our daughter, Rose Thornton, was born."

JOHN CHAPIN BRINSMADE.

Writes as follows: "I am still engaged in active school work, as principal of the boarding-school in Washington, Litchfield County, Conn., which position I have occupied for the last thirteen years. Have occasionally found time and opportunity for minor political service. In 1892, I was elected to the Connecticut House of Representatives, where I was Chairman of the Committee on Federal Relations, and a member of the Committee on Education. Now have seven children, the two youngest being John Chapin, Jr., born Sept. 28, 1891, and Charlotte Blake, born Sept. 20, 1893."

ALEXANDER PORTER BROWNE.

Writes as follows: "I am still practising law, being the senior partner in the firm of Browne, Southgate & Southgate, with offices at 82 Water Street, Boston, and at Worcester, Mass. I reside at Hotel Ilkley, Boston. Have been recently appointed Special Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, in connection with patent litigation in which the government is interested. Have taken some interest in politics (not much of late), and in 1890 was the Democratic candidate for State Senator in the Fifth Suffolk District. Have been President of the Papyrus Club of Boston, and am a member, also, of the St. Botolph (Boston), Reform and Players' (New York), and Metropolitan (Washington) Clubs."

CHARLES THOMAS BUFFUM.

Has continued to practise medicine in New York City, now having his office at 5 East Twenty-seventh Street. Is in Europe this summer. Is married. (No report.)

HENRY MORGAN BURDETT.

Writes as follows: "My stay in Kansas taught me several things. This was before the days of the Populist, but as I look back I can see the germ of the Populist idea. . . . One of the Kansas vagaries was an absence of cash. As a result they thought that a member of the Bar (Kansas is Prohibition) should work for love, glory, anything but lucre. This is a grand idea so far as it goes, but it does not go far. I sent a client, one day, my bill, I had cut rates as compared with New York prices, some eighty per cent. I thought I was safe enough, but next day that bill came back with the remaining twenty per cent cut out by a stroke of a pen, and the word 'Nothing' substituted therefor. With that experience I decided to close my Kansas career. At this date my only achievement while there seems to have been of a political nature; for I lost my vote here by going away too soon, and I lost my vote there by not getting there soon enough. I returned to New York in January, 1890. I left for Europe in June, 1891. I had been over twice before, but this time was more fortunate than the average traveller. I celebrated my good fortune June 1, 1892, at Emmanuel Church, Boston, the bride's name being Margaret Patterson, daughter of the late Frederic Crosby, of Belfast, Maine. My next good fortune was born July 23, 1893, at 101 East Eighty-first Street, New York City, my present residence. He will have to struggle with the name of Henry Morgan Burdett, Junior."

WILLIAM APPLETON BURNHAM.

Writes as follows: "Reside at 87 Beacon Street, Boston, at Stonington, Conn., and have an office at 40 Water Street, Boston. Married, and have four children."

WILLIAM BURRY.

Continues to practise law in Chicago, Ill., in partnership with John S. Runnells, Esq., under the firm name of Runnells & Burry, with offices now at 184 La Salle Street.

★ JAMES JACKSON CABOT. Born Feb. 4, 1854, at Boston, Mass.; died at Boston, June 13, 1875.

See Secretary's Report, No. 2 (1877), pp. 11, 12.

THOMAS CARY.

Writes as follows: "I am still living at 184 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., but have moved out of the White Building, closed my law office temporarily, and am devoting my time and attention to the management of this hotel (The Genesee), until I can find a suitable tenant. For recreation I play polo during the summer, and in the autumn hunt in the Genesee Valley, and in the winter, as trustee of the Charity Organization Society, I get up an annual Charity Ball, and otherwise tackle the problems of poverty."

EDWARD WARREN CATE.

Writes as follows: "In 1890, I removed from Newton, Mass., to Boston, where I now reside, and consequently resigned all the public offices which I held in the former city. Since that time I have taken no active part in public life, except that during each fall campaign I have made a few speeches throughout the State of Massachusetts, in behalf of the Republican candidates. I am still practising law in Boston, now having my offices at Rooms 942–944 Exchange Building, 53 State Street. Since May, 1890, I have been in partnership with Joseph O. Burdett, Esq., under the name of Burdett & Cate." Is married.

GEORGE HERBERT CATE.

Writes as follows: "I was pastor of the Congregational Church in Cheboygan, Mich., until March 1, 1891. From there I was called to the pastorate of the Congregational Church in Bloomington, Ill., May 1, of the same year. I had a pleasant and successful pastorate in Bloomington, but on account of the climate not agreeing with my oldest child, I came East, Aug. 1, 1893, after resigning my pastorate in Bloomington. I settled in West Newton, Mass., in October, 1893, where I have bought a home. In February, 1884, I was called to be assistant pastor at the Shawmut Congregational Church in Boston, Rev. W. E. Barton, Pastor, where I am at present. The change from the West to the East has been very beneficial to my invalid asthmatic boy. My third son, Dudley Chase, was born Oct. 4, 1890. My wife has composed several songs (published by the Huyett Music Company, of Chicago) which have had considerable success. My humble share was to write the words."

HENRY ARNOTT CHISHOLM.

Has been since Jan. 1, 1877, one of the partners in the firm of William Chisholm & Sons, manufacturers and proprietors of the Chisholm Steel Shovel Works, of which he is also superintendent, in Cleveland, Ohio. Is married and has one child. Resides at 2055 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

ARTHUR BLAKE CLAPP.

On account of poor health, has been for some time unable to attend to business. He was, before this, a lawyer practising in Boston. Address, care Dr. Herbert C. Clapp, 11 Columbus Square, Boston.

HENRY ALDEN CLARK.

Continues to reside in Erie, Pa., and to practise law in that city. "In fall of 1890 attached journalism to the law. Bought the Erie Gazette, the paper on which Horace Greeley learned to set type; subsequently consolidated with the Erie Despatch Publishing Company, Limited. May 4, 1892, divorced journalism from the law. Elected Trustee of the Erie Academy, Nov. 7, 1893. In February, 1890, elected chairman of the Republican City Committee, and in June, 1890, chairman of the Republican County Committee of Erie County, and was twice a delegate to the Republican State Convention." Is married and has two children.

LOUIS CRAWFORD CLARK.

Has continued as a member of the firm of Clark, Dodge & Co., bankers and brokers, at 51 Wall Street, New York City. Is married and has five children; his fifth child, Julian Bouton, was born Oct. 6, 1891. Resides at 21 West Forty-seventh Street, New York City, and has a summer residence at Burlington, Vt.

CHARLES CECIL CLARKE.

Has continued in the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs Service, and writes from Lungchow, China, April 4, 1894, as follows: "I left Hainan in March, 1889, on two years' leave, which I spent in the United States and in Europe. On my return to China in 1891, I was appointed to the charge of the Customs, at Lungchow, a town on the frontier of Tonkin in the southwest of China. It is not on any map I know of, but if any body wants to put it on one, he can mark it in 22° 21′ N., 106° 45′ E., and he will be little wiser. Lungchow waits for a trade to come to it through Tonkin, now that the French have assumed a protectorate over that province of Annam, and meanwhile is the quietest of quiet places."

SAMUEL BELCHER CLARKE.

Has continued to practise law in New York City, in partnership with Elihu Root, Esq., and Joseph Kunzmann, Esq., under the firm name of Root & Clarke, with offices in the Mutual Life Building, 32 Nassau Street. Is married and has two children. (No report.)

★ ARTHUR CLIFFORD. Born April 7, 1852, at New Bedford, Mass.; died Feb. 26, 1881.

See Secretary's Report, No. 4 (1884), pp. 13, 14.

GEORGE OLIVER GEORGE COALE.

Has continued to practise law in Boston, making a specialty of patent law, with his offices, since April 1, 1888, at 85 Water Street. Is a director of the "Cecilia," a musical society of Boston, Secretary of the Harvard Musical Association, and a member of the St. Botolph Club. Is married, and has two children. Resides at 105 Sedgwick Street, Jamaica Plain (Boston), Mass.

FREDERIC K. COLLINS.

On account of poor health, has not been in active business during the past five years. In 1893, removed from Cleveland, O., to Cambridgeport, Mass., where he is at present residing with his mother. In 1891, travelled in Europe. Residence, 10 Centre Street, Cambridgeport, Mass.

★ THOMAS CORLIES was born on the twenty-seventh day of September, 1854, at Chappaqua, Westchester County, New York. He was the son of Edmund Williams and Marguerite (Hagen) Corlies. His father's family were of Quaker origin, and widely known as the Corlies or Corliss family who came from England early in the last century and settled in New Jersey. His early days were spent in Brooklyn, N. Y., with his parents, until his mother died in 1857, when he went to live with his paternal grandmother in Shrewsbury, N. J., remaining there until 1869, when he returned to his father's residence in Brooklyn. He studied at home until 1864, when he was formally entered at Sedgwick Institute, Great Barrington, Mass., where he remained for two years. He attended several other boarding schools during his early youth, coming finally from Mohegan Lake School, Peekskill, N. Y., to Cambridge, where in June, 1870, he passed his entrance examinations to the Class of 1874, at the age of fifteen years and nine months. While in college he was a member of the Institute of 1770, and of the Delta Kappa Epsilon and Hasty Pudding Club. After graduating from college, he commenced to study law in the office of Butler, Stillman & Hubbard, of New York, at the same time attending lectures at the Columbia Law School. He went abroad for a few years, returning to New York in 1886, and engaged in the employment of Williams & Terhune, freight brokers, and later was with the Norton Manufacturing Co., of Walpole, Mass. In the fall of 1889, he was for some time a clerk in the United States National Bank in New York, and subsequently, after a short residence in the West, he went abroad again, returning to Chicago, where, on Jan. 19, 1894, he died of pneumonia.

His father desired him from the first to prepare for a mercantile life, but, as his tastes were of a literary turn, he was allowed to follow his own inclinations and go to college, where he soon distinguished himself, not only as a student of literature but as a writer both of prose and poetry. During the second term of the Sophomore year, he was the Secretary of the Institute of 1770, and was poet at the class supper in the Sophomore year. He was one of the men from the class who started "The Magenta," which was a great success as a paper, and which he regarded as one of the most satisfactory efforts of his college life.

He had a remarkable memory, and exceptional powers of concentration when interested or studying for a purpose. He maintained a good average standing in his class without apparent effort. His time was mostly given up to multifarious reading, and though poetry and philosophy were his favorite subjects, he was fond of Latin and modern languages. He studied law, not so much for the purpose of practising the profession, but that he might have better opportunity to pursue the studies in which he was most interested. His style of writing was terse and expressive, and conveyed the idea that he was thoroughly informed on his subject. He was not easily discouraged, and, without being an ambitious man, was confident, and usually succeeded, as far as he intended to go, in what he undertook. His impulses were slow, but whatever interested him at the time swayed his mind as a whole; thus his life was more or less contradictory. In social intercourse, he was reserved, particularly towards strangers, but when among his intimate friends he was genial and a most agreeable companion. He was unselfish, and his instincts were those of a gentleman on all occasions. If he had faults, he did not transgress the Golden Rule and therefore had no enemies, while he endeared himself to all who knew him, and will ever be held in fond remembrance by his friends and classmates.

W. B.

At the class meeting on Commencement Day, this year, the tribute of respect to the memory of our classmate, prepared by a committee consisting of Higginson, Blair, and Faulkner, will be formally presented and entered on the class records. This tribute, with the above memorial notice, was sent April 30, 1894, to the family of the deceased, and to each member of the class. A card announcing his death was also sent to the class Feb. 2, 1894.

HENRY HORACE CROCKER.

Has been, since 1883, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and has his office at 51 Wall Street. Has recently taken a European trip. (No report.)

FREDERIC CUNNINGHAM.

Has continued to practise law in Boston. Moved his office, in 1891, from 30 Court Street to 909 Exchange Building, 53 State Street. Is married and has six children, of whom Susanna, born March 19, 1890, and Lawrence, born Dec. 29, 1892, have been born since the last report. Resides in Brookline, Mass.

FREDERICK SPAULDING CUTTER.

Writes as follows: "In June, 1889, I resigned my position as Submaster in the Harvard Grammar School, in Cambridge, to accept an appointment as master of a grammar school about to be organized in the same city. The school was named the Peabody School, in honor of Rev. Dr. Andrew P. Peabody. This position I now hold." Is engaged to be married. Resides at 273 Harvard Street, Cambridgeport, Mass.

PAUL DANA.

Has continued in the office of the Sun, published by his father, Charles A. Dana, Esq., at 168 Nassau Street, New York City, and has an active share in the management of that paper. Was appointed in February, 1891, a member of the Board of Park Commissioners of the city of New York and resigned in March, 1894. Was married in 1884, and has three children; Anderson was born July 3, 1889, and William Butler Duncan, Nov. 19, 1891.

RICHARD HENRY DANA.

Writes as follows: "Continued to edit the Civil Service Record until June, 1892, when that periodical was consolidated with the Civil Service Reformer, of Baltimore, into Good Government. Made several addresses on the working of the Australian Ballot Act in Massachusetts, notably one before the Joint Session of the New Hampshire Legislature, and have opposed before committees of the Massachusetts Legislature, four years in succession, various attempts to weaken the Ballot Law of 1888. Have for three years been interested actively in the introduction into Massachusetts of the Norwegian System of regulating the sale of liquor, serving on several committees of the friends of the movement. At the conference of Civil Service Reformers in Baltimore, Oct. 5, 1889, read a paper on taking postmasters out of politics, the principles of which are embodied in the Lodge bill in Congress. Was elected president of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association in 1890. Was defeated as candidate for Mayor of Cambridge in December, 1890. Drafted bill to regulate and compel the accounting of election expenses and worked for its passage in 1891 and 1892. Made several speeches on Civil Service Reform at several places, the last being before the new Harvard Civil Service Reform Association at Sanders Theatre, Feb. 20, 1894. Published an article on the 'Workings of the Australian Ballot Act in Massachusetts,' in the annals of the American Academy of May, 1892, and one on 'An American View of the Irish Question,' in the "Forum" of August, 1892. Was elected president of the trustees of the New England Conservatory of Music in 1891, and in 1892 raised $160,000 for the institution, and have devoted much time and thought to its interests. Was before the Massachusetts Legislature of 1893 in advocacy of the appointment instead of election of clerks of courts, registrars of probate and deeds, and some other non-political officials, and in 1892, 1893, and 1894 appeared before the Legislature in opposition to various forms of double taxation." His sixth child, Delia Farley, was born Oct. 2, 1889. Still resides at 113 Brattle Street, Cambridge, Mass., and practises law and manages trusts at his office, 906 Exchange Building, 53 State Street, Boston.

ARTHUR LITHGOW DEVENS.

Is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange, and of the firm of Devens, Lyman & Co., bankers and brokers, 4 Post-Office Square, Boston. Has been Treasurer of the Republican Club of Massachusetts since its formation. Is married and has three children. Resides at Hamilton, Mass.

★JAMES EDWARD DITSON. Born Dec. 11, 1852, at Boston, Mass.; died at Upper Saint Regis Lake, N. Y., Aug. 7, 1881.

See Secretary's Report, No. 4 (1884), pp. 16, 17.

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

Writes as follows: "I still continue as literary adviser to the publishing house of Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., at 100 Purchase Street in Boston, my office hours being from eight to one. I am sorry to say that I have been obliged to act as a sort of Rhadamanthus to many unhappy authors; though occasionally I have been able to recommend a manuscript for publication. I am proud that Fenollosa's beautiful volume came out with our imprint. How many letters I have written, and how many thousand pages of proof I have corrected, Heaven only knows; but I have read in the course of my duties, every line of Milton, of Wordsworth, of Scott, of Shelley, and others too numerous to mention. I have written biographical sketches of Milton, Burns, Scott, Byron, Poe, Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier, Lowell, and during the spare time that my duties afforded, I wrote with much care, — for I was not hurried about it, a little volume of 540 pages entitled, 'A Score of Famous Composers,' which has been well received; and have also made considerable progress with a somewhat similar volume, to be called 'Famous American Universities.' . . . My afternoons and evenings being at my own service, I have held the almost nominal position of principal of the English Department of the New England Conservatory of Music, my duties there not requiring more than one or two lectures on English and American Literature each week, the classes varying greatly, from four to thirty, according to the time of the year. I have also lectured in Boston and vicinity, on various topics, giving a course of ten on the French Drama, of ten on American Literature, and this past winter of six on Italian Literature, supplemented by a course of five or six readings from stories of Italian life.

"I have given a lecture on 'Originality in Art and Literature' a number of times in various places, — Haverhill, Lynn, Medford, and Boston. Once I have appeared at an Authors' Readings and got an encore for my poem of 'How Mike O'Toole Drove Home his Hearse.' I have regularly contributed a monthly letter from Boston to the Philadelphia Book News, and I have had stories, articles, and poems published in the 'Century,' Harper's Weekly and Bazaar, Independent, 'New-England Magaz ne' and other periodicals. I have had a number of poems translated into Russian and published in Russia. I have translated (mostly for Schirmer of New York) nearly three hundred songs. . . . A novel entitled 'Not Angels Quite,' published by Lee and Shepard, last August, drew forth the most amusingly contradictory criticisms . . . I have two volumes of poems all ready for the press: one, consisting of songs and sonnets dedicated to the Class of 1874, in honor of our twentieth anniversary, I hoped to have ready for the great event; the other is of 'Vers de Société,' and, with illustrations by F. G. Attwood, will be published by Estes & Lauriat. . . . I have been industrious enough, and if I served any other mistress but Literature with the same diligence I think I should have received some material reward; but in the classic words of Wordsworth, I am still 'The poor Dole of scanty pence,' and apparently likely to become, in the sinister prophetic words of Shelley, 'Cold Charity's unwelcome Dole.' Still I was enabled to go to the Chicago Fair, and had a treatment only exceeded in miraculous commissariat by the prophet Elijah's experience with the ravens." Is married and has four children; his third child, Margaret Allona, was born Jan. 26, 1891, and Harold Sanford, was born March 30, 1893. Resides at "Hedgecote," Glen Road, Jamaica Plain (Boston), Mass.

GEORGE BUCKNAM DORR.

Has not entered any business or profession since graduation. Writes as follows: " . . . My home is still in Boston (18 Commonwealth Avenue); and an autumn and winter spent upon the Nile, and a spring in the Holy Land, is the only travelling of any special interest that I have done the last five years."

JAMES DWIGHT.

Writes as follows: "Live at 225 Beacon Street, Boston, one half the year and at Woods Holl, Mass., the other half. Have four children living. Ruth, born Jan. 15, 1891, Philip Joseph, born March 16, 1892, and Elizabeth, born Feb. 24, 1894, were born since last report. My son, Alfred Warren, born July 28, 1889, died May 4, 1893. Have published two books on Lawn Tennis, and various articles on sporting matters."

LOUIS DYER.

After his resignation as Assistant Professor of Greek and Latin at Harvard, which took effect in June, 1887, he went abroad for purposes of study and travel, remaining in England from September to December, 1887, in Greece until June, 1888, in Venice until December, 1888, in Paris from January to June, 1889, and in London until December, 1889. Then returned temporarily to this country and from January to May, 1890, was giving his course of eight Lowell Institute lectures, in Boston, on "The Gods in Greece," and travelling in America. In June, 1890, he went back to England, settling near Oxford, and finally purchased Sunbury Lodge in Oxford, which is to be his permanent home. In June, 1891, published his Lowell Lectures: "Studies of the Gods in Greece at Certain Sanctuaries Recently Excavated." In 1891 was elected a member of the Council of the Hellenic Society. In April, 1893, took the Oxford M. A. degree and was in that year appointed by the Master and Fellows of Balliol College to be lecturer in German and French. Has examined various schools for several years past, upon the invitation of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Committee. In 1893 published a translation from Professor Luigi Cossa's original Italian "An Introduction to the Study of Political Economy." Has contributed occasional articles, notes, reviews, and letters to the Nation (N. Y.), the Athenæum (London), the Classical Review, the Journal of Hellenic Studies, the Oxford Magazine and other periodicals. Was married, Nov. 23, 1889, in London, to Margaret Anne, eldest daughter of Alexander Macmillan, Esq., senior member of the firm of Macmillan & Co., publishers of London, and has two children: Charles Volney, born Dec. 22, 1890, and Cecil Macmillan, born Jan. 17, 1894. His warm interest in the class is shown by the following in his letter: "I hope, when any of our classmates may chance to be passing through Oxford, that they will look in upon me. One of my chief reasons for determining to live during the rest of my natural life in Oxford is the circumstance that there is no place in the United States where I could possibly see so many of my friends in America as I see here. This fact may seem wildly improbable, but experience has proved its truth in my case."

★WILLIAM SAMUEL ELIOT. Born March 16, 1854, at Boston, Mass.; died at Boston, Nov. 15, 1874.

See Secretary's Report, No. 2 (1877), pp. 17, 18.

JOHN WHEELOCK ELLIOT.

Writes as follows: "Has continued to practise medicine in Boston, now having his office at his residence, 124 Beacon Street. In 1893, was made a member of the American Surgical Association. In 1894, was appointed full surgeon at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Has contributed frequently to various medical journals. Has a son, John Morse, born Nov. 5, 1891."

FRANK WORCESTER ELWOOD.

Continues to practise law and to attend to real estate matters in Rochester, N. Y., having his office at 32 Elwood Memorial Building in that city. Writes as follows: "I am now senior vestryman of St. Paul's Church, having been a member of that board some fifteen years. Have been for some time a member of the Board of Managers of the Rochester Historical Society, and am now vice-president. Was for several years member of the Board of Governors of the Rochester Club, and its president 1886–88. Was on House Committee of Genesee Valley Club for three years and am now a member of its Board of Managers. Am treasurer of the local Civil Service Reform League and of the Municipal Reform League. Was appointed for five years by the mayor last year, and confirmed by the Common Council, a member of the Board of Park Commissioners, and am chairman of the Committee on City Parks and Forestry, and also on other committees. Am a member of the Chamber of Commerce, being on several committees of that body, and am one of a committee of five citizens appointed by the Common Council to prepare for a proper celebration of the Fourth of July. Am a member of the Forestry Association, Rochester Whist Club, Rochester Athletic Club, etc." Is married and has one child, Dorothy, born Feb. 8, 1890. Resides at 253 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

JOHN WOODFORD FARLOW.

Has continued to practise medicine in Boston, having his office at his residence, 234 Clarendon Street. "Resigned from the Carney Hospital in December, 1892, and as chief medical officer of the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation of London, Eng., in December, 1893. Was appointed Physician for Diseases of the Throat and Nose, to the City Hospital, in 1890. Was elected instructor in the same diseases at the Harvard Medical School, in 1892. Am head of Department of Laryngology in the Boston Polyclinic. In 1892, was elected a member of the American Laryngological Society. For two years I have been on the visiting committee appointed by the Trustees of the Boston Public Library, to visit the Library. Have recently been elected to the executive committee of the Boston Medical Library. Am not now in general practice, but limit myself to diseases of the nose and throat. Have published various articles in the 'Boston Medical and Surgical Journal,' and one in New York. Went to Europe in the summers of 1890 and 1891, for short vacations." Is married, and has two children.

JACOB HAMILTON FARRAR.

Writes from Chicago, Ill., as follows: "My business (real estate) being mainly large properties in the heart of Chicago, my association is largely with the busiest and wealthiest citizens; and the constant inquiry about the prospects of future real estate has constantly led me into arguments on politics and finances, which being fundamental questions have vast influence on real estate values. . . . The matter was a serious loss of time to me, consequently in order to save time, I wrote out the arguments and had them published, and challenged an answer from any one, from Pres. Eliot down to Pres. Cleveland, including H. Watterson, Bland, Carlisle, etc. No one ventured to assail either, for the reason that I required that each and every proposition should be either affirmed or negatived, and then the argument should follow. This had the effect of stopping the immense flood of slush about these subjects in the papers, by editors who knew no more about what they were writing about than about the inhabitants of the planets. The 'Finance Question Solved' was published in the Chicago papers in 1890, and 'Tariff not a Toy' was published Dec. 18, 1893, in the Chicago Inter-Ocean. . . . I have had the pleasure of seeing Illinois convinced that we needed a better election system, and to avoid taking mine in body, they cooked up a botch that has been the subject of endless litigation and also enormous expense and fraud of unparalleled magnitude. My subsidewalk railroad I shall send you later." His office is at 90 La Salle Street, and his residence on Webster Avenue, Chicago.

FRANCIS CHILD FAULKNER.

Is still residing in Keene, N. H., and in the practice of law there with A. T. Batchelder, Esq. (Dart. Coll. 1871), under the firm name of Batchelder & Faulkner. Has been for the past five years president of the Board of Education of Keene. Is married and has three children.

ERNEST FRANCISCO FENOLLOSA.

Retained his connection with the Imperial University of Tokio, Japan, as Professor of Political Economy and Philosophy, from 1878, and later was also in charge of a new department which had for its object the development of Japanese Art, until 1890. He writes as follows: —

". . . In 1890 I was invited to come to Boston as Curator of the several great collections of original Japanese work deposited with the Museum of Fine Arts. To find myself thus master of my own collection made from 1878 to 1886, and of Dr. W. S. Bigelow's (H. U., 1871) collection, with which I had been concerned until 1882, and gradually to bring to bear upon the Western world the full measure of their practical lessons, had a decisive attraction. That the situation was understood in Japan is shown by His Majesty's gracious words to me in final audience: 'We request you now to teach the significance of Japanese art to the West as you have already taught it to the Japanese.' Since 1890 my work has been at the Fine Arts Museum in Boston, where I also reside, employed in arranging, classifying, studying, writing about or lecturing on the several tens of thousands of objects in charge of my department. While the remains of classic art recovered during the last four centuries have been first studied by generations of European scholars, and can mostly be reproduced in casts for our country, in oriental art the total field of research has here to be broken and cultivated, our collection of originals being by far the largest and richest in the world.

Of the practical educational value which coming years will recognize in this collection, it is impossible to make an exaggerated statement. During these years I have published papers on oriental subjects in several periodicals, and on June 20, 1892, I delivered at Cambridge the Phi Beta Kappa poem, whose subject was 'East and West.' In December, 1893, I published this in a volume of poems to which it gave the title. At the World's Fair in Chicago, 1893, I was a member of the Jury of Awards for Fine Arts, representing the country of Japan." Is married and has one child living, his son, Ernest Kano, having died April 7, 1887.

★EDWARD MORTIMER FERRIS was born at Boston, Mass., Dec. 23, 1853, and was the eldest of three children of Mortimer C. and Mary E. (Raymond) Ferris. His father came to Boston from Vermont in 1837, and became a prosperous merchant in the East India trade, retiring from active business at about the time of the Civil War. His mother was connected with the Raymond family, several members of which have been prominent citizens of Cambridge.

Our classmate spent his early childhood in Boston and in Brookline, whither his parents removed when he was quite young. He was educated in part at the Chauncy Hall School in Boston and in part at the public schools of Brookline. At the High School of that town he was fitted for college, and entered the Freshman class at the age of sixteen and a half years. His special taste was for mathematics and physics, and a large part of his college electives was in these lines. The proximity of his home to Cambridge led him to spend much of his time at the former place, which accounted for the fact of his not forming many intimate friends in the class. His assiduity in college work, however, is shown by the remarkable fact that, with the exception of three consecutive exercises in the Freshman year, when he was ill, he never missed a single recitation or lecture throughout the four years. He was a member of the Athenæum and Pi Eta Societies, but being at home so many of his evenings, was not a frequent attendant at either.

After graduating he took a special course in Physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and after a visit to California in the summer of 1875, he entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of the same year. His choice of this profession may have been due in part to the influence of a paternal uncle who was a physician, but once in the school Ferris found his work interesting, and devoted himself to it with his customary faithfulness. He graduated with the degree of M. D. in 1878, and spent the following year in study and travel abroad, dividing his professional work between Vienna and Paris. Returning home in the autumn of 1879, he was married in December of that year to Marion, daughter of Cyrus Yale, of New York. He then served a term as House Physician in the Rhode Island Hospital, but did not pursue the practice of his profession further, becoming engaged in assisting his father in the management of his estate and of various trusts with which the latter was concerned. In this field he found congenial employment, and developed marked financial ability.

During the ensuing nine years, Ferris resided in Brookline, where three sons were born to him, and where he led a quiet life in which domestic and business interests occupied a large share.

On the death of his father and father-in-law in 1889, the settlement of two large estates devolving upon him greatly increased his labors. Other important financial trusts had meantime been imposed upon him, and under the responsibility and anxiety thus produced his nervous strength gave way, till in the summer of 1890 he fell a victim to melancholia. Against this he struggled in vain even with the help of a devoted wife, and finally, just at the time when it was hoped the cause of his depression was at an end, on the 16th of September, at the age of thirty-six years, he met the sudden death which so often and so sadly terminates this disease.

On September 18 the funeral was attended from his home, in which, for years too brief, as husband, father, friend, and citizen, he had lived a life of simplicity and uprightness. C. F. W.

At the class meeting on Commencement Day, June 24, 1891, the tribute of respect to the memory of our classmate, prepared by a committee, consisting of C. F. Withington, Fessenden, and S. E. Wyman, was formally presented and entered on the class records. This tribute, with the above memorial notice, was sent, Nov. 3, 1890, to the family of the deceased and to each member of the class. A card announcing his death was also sent to the class Oct. 4, 1890.

GEORGE RUSSELL FESSENDEN.

Writes as follows: "I still live in Ashfield, Franklin County, Mass., and continue practising medicine. Have been president of Franklin District Medical Society, one of the councillors of Massachusetts Medical Society, Chairman Republican Town Committee for fifteen years, and president Ashfield Library Association for seven years. Have been a member of Morning Sun Lodge F. & A. M. for twelve years. Took a trip west last fall and attended the World's Fair, and also visited St. Paul and Minneapolis on same trip. My second child, Margaret Tebbetts, was born Sept. 20, 1891."

★BERNARD WHITMAN FLAGG was born in Beverly, Mass., Dec. 16, 1852. He was the son of Wilson and Caroline (Eveleth) Flagg, both of whom were born in Beverly. His father, who was educated at Harvard, was a writer of much ability; his writings appearing in magazines and literary papers. He was the author of "Birds and Seasons of New England," "The Woods and By-ways of New England," and other books relating to out-of-door sights and pleasures. His grandfather and great-grandfather, both bearing the name of Isaac Flagg, were teachers by profession. At the age of eight years Bernard moved to Cambridge, where he resided until after graduation. He was prepared for college two years at the Cambridge High School and one year under private tuition, entering college at the age of seventeen years and seven months. He devoted himself especially to natural sciences, a strong taste for which was inherited from his father, with whom he spent much of his time, there being scarcely a place within a radius of ten miles of Cambridge that they were not familiar with. He was very fond of music, and sung in the choir at the College Chapel. If he had devoted himself to the cultivation of his talent in this direction at that time, he might have soon achieved the success which awaited him in later years.

After graduating, during the academic year 1874–75, he pursued a course of study in Botany and Zoölogy in Cambridge, obtaining at the close of that year the degree of A. M. The next year he spent in study at the Botanic Gardens in Cambridge as a resident graduate, without reference to any degree. During the spring of 1877 he was principal of the Centre Grammar School at North Andover, Mass. During the next fall and winter he kept a private school at Farmington, Me., and the year 1879–80 he spent as a private assistant to Prof. George L. Goodale at the Botanic Gardens. He continued to reside in Cambridge until the death of his father, soon after which, in 1885, he went to California and taught music in Pierce Christian College, College City. On May 3, 1887, he married Miss Lizzie Suggett, of College City, who had been one of his pupils. A son, Clarence Roland, born Feb. 14, 1888, was the fruit of this marriage. After teaching music a time in Tulare City and Sacramento, he finally settled in Eureka, Cal. He had been in Eureka two years, and had begun to be prosperous, besides securing the respect and good will of the community, when he was taken ill with typhoid pneumonia, from which he died June 20, 1890.

He had a most quiet and retiring disposition, and seldom sought company. For this reason he was not generally well known in college, but was always ready with a pleasant word for one who approached him. There was a vein of quiet humor and quick repartee about him which surprised one unacquainted with it. His moral character was of a high order, and his companionship elevating. His unassuming character and purity of life were in harmony with nature, which he loved so well to study. That he would have attained marked success in music there could be no doubt, from the constant and increasing demand for his services. He was a good player and a thorough and patient teacher of his pupils. He had at last found an opportunity to use his best gift. His ability was recognized. He was too diffident to thrust himself into notice, but was gifted, and willing to work when his services were sought. Such were just the elements adapted to work out success. This very fact of his faithful and earnest fulfilment of over-pressing work proved to be the means of undermining his ability to baffle disease. His life was brought to a close just as a prosperous future seemed assured. F. B. F.

At the class meeting on Commencement Day, June 24, 1891, the tribute of respect to the memory of our classmate, prepared by a committee consisting of Flanders, Nichols, and H. F. Merrill, was formally presented and entered on the class records. This tribute, with the above memorial notice, was sent, March 4, 1891, to the family of the deceased and to each member of the class. A card announcing his death was also sent to the class, Jan. 14, 1891.

FRANK BYRON FLANDERS.

Since June, 1878, has been practising medicine in Lawrence, Mass., now having his office at his residence, 617 Broadway, in that city. Is married and has had five children; his fourth child, William Niles, was born July 26, 1889, and Richard was born March 22, 1891.

ARTHUR WILLIAM FOOTE.

Is still teaching pianoforte playing and composition in Boston; has been organist at the First Church, in Boston, since October, 1878, and has continued to give concerts of his own each year, as well as to assist in concerts given by others. "His published compositions include 'In the Mountains,' and 'Francesca da Rimini,' two overtures for orchestra; two Suites for string orchestra (the first performance of all of these being by the Boston Symphony Orchestra); a trio for piano and strings; a quartet for piano and strings; a violin and piano Sonata; two string quartets in G minor and E major (the second one still in MS., and played for the first time at the Kneisel Quartet Concerts in 1894); some smaller pieces for violin and piano, and 'cello and piano; also a concerto for 'cello and orchestra (still in MS.); also three ballads, 'The Farewell of Hiawatha,' for male chorus and orchestra (first performed by the Apollo Club of Boston, in 1891), 'The Wreck of the Hesperus,' for mixed chorus and orchestra (first performance by the 'Cecilia' in Boston), and 'The Skeleton in Armor,' for mixed chorus and orchestra (first performance in the Boston Symphony Concerts). Besides these larger works, a good number of piano pieces (the most important of these being two Suites) and about thirty songs, as well as some church music. . . ." Is a member of the St. Botolph Club (being on the executive committee) and of the Tavern Club. Is married and has one child. Resides at 2 West Cedar Street, Boston.

HORACE WALDO FORSTER.

Writes from Redlands, Cal., as follows: "I have continued in business at Pernambuco, Brazil, a partner in the firm of Henry Forster & Co., general and commission merchants, one of the oldest American houses in foreign countries, having been established for sixty-three years. I have made five round voyages to Brazil, and in returning, via England, I travelled somewhat in the British Isles and on the Continent. In October, 1892, I came to California for my health and am not yet able to return to the East. Was Vice-Consul of the United States at Pernambuco from 1885 to 1888, and acting consul for a time during this period. Was president of the Pernambuco Lawn Tennis Club and am a member of the University Club of New York."

WILLIAM WHITWORTH GANNETT.

Since last report has continued to practise medicine in Boston. Is Visiting Physician to the Massachusetts General Hospital and an instructor in the Harvard Medical School. Was married in West Roxbury, Mass., Sept. 10, 1889, to Harriet F. C. Hastings, who died Dec. 31, 1889. Resides at 274 Marlborough Street, Boston.

ARTHUR LEWIS GOODRICH.

Has continued to reside in Salem, Mass., and to be in charge of the High School in that city, of which he has been master since 1882. Is married and has three children. Was president of the Massachusetts Association of Classical and High School Teachers, for the year 1893–94, and was re-elected for the present year.

WENDELL GOODWIN.

Has continued to reside in New York City, and is engaged "in the business of railroads and kindred interests," being associated with Swift, and now having offices at 66 Broadway, New York City.

HENRY RICE GRANT.

Is not now in active business. Is believed to still have rooms at 5 Mt. Vernon Place, Boston. (No report.)

ULYSSES SIMPSON GRANT.

At the time of the report, in 1889, he had an office with Purrington & Shannon, attorneys, etc., at 63 Wall Street, New York City, and resided in Salem Center, Westchester County, N. Y., which is believed to be his present residence. Has been in California the past winter. Is married and has five children. (No report.)

CHARLES MONTRAVILLE GREEN.

Writes as follows: "During the past five years I have continued the practice of medicine, and I still live at 78 Marlborough Street, Boston. I hold appointments at the Boston Lying-in Hospital, the Boston City Hospital, and the Boston Dispensary; and I continue as Instructor in Obstetrics in Harvard University. Since 1890, I have been a councillor of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and for the past year and a half have held the office of President of the Obstetrical Society of Boston. In January last, I completed a service of five years on the School Committee of Boston. In 1889, I became a member of the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, of which society I have served as vice-president, and now hold the office of treasurer. Since the last report, I have become a member of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, 'A Republican Institution,' and the Municipal League of Boston. I still retain my commission as Assistant Surgeon in the First Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., which I have held since 1881, and I have just joined the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States."

SAMUEL BLAIR GRIFFITH.

Has continued to practise law in Mercer, Pa. Since Oct. 1, 1893, when his father died, has been in partnership with W. W. Moore, Esq., under the firm name of Griffith & Moore. "Received the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Twenty-sixth District of Pennsylvania, in 1888, and was defeated by about the usual majority (7,000). Was delegate to the National Convention at Chicago in 1892, and assisted at the nomination of Mr. Cleveland. Was appointed, Sept. 26, 1893, and am now holding the office of, Assistant United States Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania." Is married and has two children.

HERBERT LEE HARDING.

Writes as follows: "I have continued to reside in Jamaica Plain, and to practise law in Boston, and have given considerable time and attention to municipal affairs. Wigglesworth and I are no longer in partnership, though we have offices together in Fiske Building, 89 State Street." Is married, and has one child.

★ GEORGE IRWIN HAVEN, the son of James Lemmon and Rebecca (Paddock) Haven was born at Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1851. The sad mystery which involves his fate has not and probably never will be solved, but as nothing has been heard of him for now nearly nine years it is difficult to believe that he is still alive.

As a boy he was a conscientious student, and graduated from the Woodward High School in Cincinnati with the highest rank. He passed the examinations at Cambridge in 1869, but was prevented by ill health from entering college until the following year, and thus became a member of our class. His active mind and clear understanding enabled him to maintain a more than average rank; though he was by no means a hard student, did not confine his reading to the requirements of the college curriculum, and was for six months of Senior year at home assisting his father during the business depression general over the country at that time.

Immediately after graduation he resumed his place in his father's works, and in 1876 was made Superintendent, showing in that position conspicuous business ability, which was one of his marked characteristics while in college. Actively engaged in the management of a large manufacturing establishment he yet found time to read law, and was in due course admitted to the Cincinnati bar, never, however, practising his profession.

Early in 1883, a roof fell upon him nearly crushing him to the ground, and, while at the time he was apparently but slightly injured, symptoms appeared later which in December caused him to give up business. In March, 1884, he went to Europe with his father, remaining six months. He returned to the Continent later in the year, this time alone, and in the summer of 1885 was in

New York City on his way home. Aug. 22, he left the Astor House, presumably to take the train, and from that time to this nothing has by the most persistent efforts been discovered that could even be considered a clue to his further movements. It may be said that a most prominent symptom of his illness was an unconquerable drowsiness so marked that, while on a tour in the Rocky Mountains, in 1883, he would fall asleep on his horse in the most dangerous places, and that it is not inconceivable that his death may in some way have been due to this condition of things.

George Haven's friends were many and he kept them, for he was always the same. Holding decided opinions, and an intense hater of sham and pretence, a serious quarrel with him seemed an impossibility. That sturdy common sense, with which he was to a remarkable degree endowed, carried him through shoals and over quicksands of opinion where many a man had seen his friendships wrecked. He was one of those men that people instinctively trust, — honest, steady, able, and reliable, — the future man of affairs.

In college he was treasurer of the Pi Eta Society, and was the first business editor of the "Magenta," later the "Crimson." He was one of the organizers of the University Club of Cincinnati, and took an active part in its affairs until his health failed.

Fond of nature, his great delight was to be out of doors, and his summers were largely spent in genuine tramps about the country. In this way he walked through the White Mountains, the Pennsylvania Coal Regions, the mountains of West Virginia, and the Catskills, in our own country, and in Europe the Black Forest, Tyrol, the Alps, and a considerable portion of Southern England and the Isle of Wight, sometimes with classmates and sometimes alone. His kindness to all classmates who passed through Cincinnati was proverbial. His kindness to those in poverty and misfortune was known to but a few.

Those of us, who knew him best, will always cherish his memory as that of a dear and true friend. S. B. W.

At the class meeting on Commencement Day, this year, the above memorial notice will be formally presented, and upon acceptance, will be entered on the class records.

WILLIAM DUFF HAYNIE.

Has been practising law in Deadwood, S. D., in partnership with James W. Fowler, Esq., since Dec. 18, 1893, when he removed from Rapid City, in that State. Is married.

EDWARD HIGGINSON.

Writes as follows: "Since the last report I have continued to practise law in Fall River, Mass., now having my office in Borden Block.

I held the office of City Solicitor in the years 1889, 1891, and 1892. In 1887 I was one of the founders of the Harvard Club of Fall River, and was a member of its executive committee for several years. My elder daughter, Anne Storrow, died July 24, 1892, at the age of five.

EDWARD BRUCE HILL.

Writes as follows: "I still reside in the city of New York, and practise law at 45 Wall Street, where, since June 1, 1891, I have been connected with the firm of Sullivan & Cromwell. . . . Have joined the New York State Bar Association, and the Association of the Bar of New York City." Is married, and has one child.

AMORY GLAZIER HODGES.

Writes as follows: "Have been in the stock brokerage business in New York City, with Frederic Taylor, under the firm name of Frederic Taylor & Co., since Sept. 15, 1886. This firm was dissolved May 1, 1894, and on that date I associated myself with Richard H. Halsted, under the firm name of Halsted & Hodges, though we are better known on the floor of the Stock Exchange, as 'Hoss and Hoss.' Our office is at 31 Broad Street." Is married; his eldest son, Amory, died March 5, 1890. A third son, John King, was born Feb. 26, 1891. Resides at 6 Gramercy Park, New York City.

NATHANIEL DANA CARLILE HODGES.

Was, in 1889, publisher and editor of "Science," with offices in New York City, and residence at Plainfield, N. J. Is believed to be now thus engaged, with his office at 874 Broadway, New York City. Is married. (No report.)

THOMAS MILLER HONEYWELL.

Is in business in Evansville, Ind., as general manager of the Evansville Oil Company, manufacturers of burning and lubricating oils made exclusively from Pennsylvania petroleum.

ADONIRAM JUDSON HOPKINS.

Writes as follows: "Remained in charge of the Baptist Church in Georgetown, Mass., until March, 1891, when I went to Uxbridge, Mass., to become pastor of the church there, my present charge. My time is fully occupied in my church work. I was recently elected a member of the Board of Trustees of the Uxbridge Free Public Library, and later was chosen secretary of the board." Is married and has three children living; Flora May was born Oct. 4, 1889, and died June 12, 1890, and a son, Robert Carl, was born Nov. 24, 1890.

WILLIAM DAVID HUNT.

Since January, 1887, has been treasurer of the Suffolk Company, manufacturers of saddlery hardware, with his office now at 10 Burke Street, Boston. May 21, 1894, was married at Boston to Frances Emily, daughter of the late John Hitchcock, Esq. Resides at 308 Beacon Street, Boston.

JESSE C. IVY.

Continues to reside in Newton, Mass., and to practise law in Boston, at his offices in the Minot Building, 113 Devonshire Street. Was married in 1881; his fourth child, Ruth, was born June 26, 1892.

WALTER INGERSOLL JONES.

Since severing his connection with the Continental Sugar Refinery in Boston, he has not been in active business. Has resided for several years in Hubbard Park, Brattle Street, Cambridge, Mass.

ARTHUR MONROE KEITH.

Writes as follows: "Am still in the active practice of the law in Minneapolis, Minn. That covers the whole ground." The offices of his firm, Keith, Evans, Thompson, and Fairchild, are at Rooms 37–42 Minnesota Loan and Trust Company Building in Minneapolis. Is married and has two children.

★ CHARLES FRANKLIN KNOWLES. Born Aug. 8, 1852, at Boston, Mass.; died at Boston, Feb. 29, 1880.

See Secretary's Report, No. 3 (1880), pp. 26, 27.

JAMES LAWRENCE.

Continues to reside in Groton, Mass., where he has been engaged in farming and stock raising. "Is president of District Convention (Agricultural), of Groton, Pepperell, Dunstable, and Westford; Vice-President of American Shropshire Sheep Association, and trustee of Middlesex Agricultural Society, of Lawrence Academy, and trustee and secretary of Groton School; gave the land, 110 acres, upon which the latter stands, and was the sole means of bringing the school to Groton, having offered the land for such purpose if Rev. Mr. Peabody would take charge of it in trust. Is a life member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, Guernsey Society, Ayreshire Society, and English Shropshire Association, also of the Episcopal Theological Library of Boston; is a member of the United States Forestry Association, of the New York Farmers' Club, and of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific. Is a director of the Victory, Chicopee, Atlantic and Burlington Mills, of the Bowker Fertilizer Company, and of the Worcester and Nashua Railroad. Is a member of the Somerset, St. Botolph, Athletic, and Eastern Yacht Clubs of Boston, and of the Knickerbocker, Manhattan, and University Clubs of New York. Is a life member of the Harvard Law School Association, a member of the Committee of Alumni for nominating Overseers, and of the Examining Board of the Lawrence Scientific School and Bussey Institution. Is a member of the Republican Club of Massachusetts. Has been several times a delegate to the Republican State Convention, and has written various articles for the newspapers." Is married and has three children.

FREDERICK LAWTON.

Has continued to reside in Lowell, Mass., and to practise law in partnership with his brother, under the firm name of G. F. & F. Lawton, with offices now at 71 Central Street. Was chairman of the Republican City Committee of Lowell in 1889 and 1890; member of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee in 1891 and 1892; delegate from Fifth Massachusetts District to Republican National Convention at Minneapolis in 1892; member of the Massachusetts Senate from Seventh Middlesex District (city of Lowell) in 1893, with appointments to Committees on the Judiciary, Probate and Insolvency, and Election Laws, of which last he was chairman; and was president of the Middlesex Mechanics (Library) Association of Lowell in 1893. Is married and has two children.

WILLIAM SHERMAN LELAND.

Has continued to carry on the business of a conveyancer in Boston, now having his office at 27 School Street, Room 22. Resides at 53 Walnut Avenue, Roxbury (Boston), Mass.

JOEL MARVIN LEONARD.

In April, 1889, was appointed pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church in Salem, Mass., and since 1892 is believed to have been in charge of a Methodist church in Malden, Mass. Is married and has three children. Resides at 100 Washington Street, Malden, Mass. (No report.)

★FREDERIC HOWARD LOMBARD. Born April 12, 1852, at Boston, Mass.; died at Boston, Dec. 15, 1885.

See Secretary's Report, No. 5 (1889), pp. 26, 27.

JAMES DUANE LOWELL.

Nothing definite is known concerning him, except that he was for years (and may be still) a civil engineer with the Burlington & Missouri Railroad, a part of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad system, with his headquarters at Burlington, Iowa. (No report since 1880.)

HERBERT WARREN LULL.

Writes as follows: "In the summer of 1890, I resigned the principalship of the Milford (Mass.) High School, and accepted that of Quincy (Mass.). In January, 1892, I was advanced to the superintendency of the same city and I am still superintendent of schools. Since the last report I have delivered four Memorial Day addresses, and have continued my regular contributions to a weekly paper. This year I have been selected to deliver the annual address to the graduates of the Milford High School. My younger daughter, Gertrude Chase, died June 5, 1893."

FRANK LYMAN.

Writes as follows: "My address is unchanged, at 50 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. My present occupation is Deputy Commissioner of City Works of Brooklyn. My appointment dates from Feb. 1, 1894, and is for two years. As the position takes my entire time, I have given up all conflicting obligations outside of it. My wife died Sept. 5, 1890, and my son, May 15, 1893."

MICHAEL JOHN McCANN.

When last heard of, in November, 1886, he was living at 246 West Twenty-second Street, New York City, but since then nothing further can be learned concerning him. He had previously been living at Clifton, Dak., and had been Judge of Probate for Sully County, in Dakota, then having a territorial government. (No report since graduation.)

GIFFORD HORACE GREELEY McGREW.

Writes as follows: "I continued to hold the office of Grand Lecturer of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Massachusetts until December, 1893, five years in all. I have now returned to my former vocation, that of school teaching. The Boston School Committee recently elected me temporary Junior Master in the Mechanic Arts High School, which position I am at present occupying, but I shall not know until later whether my position will be made permanent." Is married and has three children living, among whom is our "Class Baby," Clarence Alan, now a member of the Freshman Class (1897) at Cambridge, to which he was admitted without conditions and with credit in Elementary Greek, Elementary Latin, Advanced Greek, and Advanced Latin. Resides at 71 Wallace Street, Cambridge, Mass.

WILLIAM GORDON McMILLAN.

When last heard from, in May, 1887, he was practising law in Chicago, Ill. He is believed to have since resided in Cleveland, Ohio, and to have practised law there and also to have been for some time clerk in one of the public offices of that city. (No report since 1884.)

WILLIAM STAPLES MARSTON.

Writes as follows: "I established in 1880, in Baltimore, Md., the University School for Boys, of which I am still principal. The school has always been successful and now has more than one hundred scholars, six teachers, and an instructor in gymnastics. It is the largest and best appointed school of its kind in Baltimore." Is married and has two children.

WILLIAM CASTEIN MASON.

Writes as follows: "I am still practising medicine in Bangor, Me., where I settled in 1878, immediately after completing my studies at the Harvard Medical School and at the Massachusetts General Hospital. . . . I am not aware that either time or hard work has made any perceptible inroad upon me except that I find glasses a convenient part of my make-up, and that to an acute observer less hair is visible on my head than there was twenty years ago. I feel warranted in stating that, in my professional opinion, this utter inability on my part to grow old is due to the fact that I always find time to go to Commencement. Although I am a participant in many pleasant events during the year it is entirely within the truth to say that I look forward to Commencement as the event of the twelve months, and it is with much satisfaction that I recall the fact that I have been able to be present at all of our twenty Commencement-Day reunions, as well as at all our class dinners. In 1887 I was elected visiting physician to the Home for Aged Women of Bangor, and since 1889 have been one of the Board of Managers. In 1890, became a member of the Harvard Club of Maine, at Portland, and in 1881 assisted in organizing the Harvard Club of Bangor at which time I was elected its president and which office I still hold. I joined the Harvard Medical Alumni Association when it first started in 1891. In 1892 was made one of the consulting surgeons to the Eastern Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary, located in this city. During the spring of 1892 in connection with four other physicians of Bangor (among them Simmons of '69), I took part in organizing and opening the Bangor Hospital, the first institution of the kind ever established in this city, and which later on was incorporated under the name of the Bangor General Hospital. From the time the hospital was opened, June 7, 1892, I have been one of its staff of visiting physicians and surgeons. In September, 1891, I was received into the Royal Order of Scotland, a masonic body; and Sept. 15, 1891, at Boston, I received, in the Supreme Council of the Order, the thirty-third and last degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry." Is married and has one child. Office at 52 Main Street, and residence at 132 Hammond Street, Bangor, Me.

EDWIN GARRALD MERRIAM.

Writes as follows: "I reside at 5735 Etzel Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., and am holding the same position in the law department of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company, as I did five years ago, viz.: Assistant to the General Solicitor, Hon. Alex. G. Cochran, with office in the Equitable Building. The past five years have been to me quite uneventful." Is married.

HENRY FERDINAND MERRILL.

Has continued in the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs Service, and writes from Ningpo, China, March 10, 1894, as follows: "In 1889 I was Chief Commissioner of Customs in Corea, which post I gave up in November to go home for a visit. The year 1890 and a part of 1891 were spent in America, chiefly in Boston, and I was present at the class reunions on Commencement Days in those two years. I was married Oct. 17, 1890, to Emma Burnett Hill. In August, 1891, we left for China, by way of Europe, visiting England, France, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and Egypt, before finally embarking for our destination. We arrived in China in December, and I was appointed Commissioner of Customs at Ningpo, where I am still. Ningpo is a place of considerable importance as a missionary field, and as the source of supply of the green tea, which so many of our country women are fond of. Life here is as quiet and uneventful as in any New England village. There are beautiful hills and valleys near at hand, easily reached in a few hours in a houseboat; and occasional trips to such places, with now and then a visit to Shanghai, do much to relieve the monotony of life here. My daughter, Helen Henrietta Burnett, was born Feb. 1, 1892; and that is the only real event of my life at Ningpo, unless I add that in July, 1893, I was invested by Imperial decree with civil rank of the second class, having been previous to that time only a Second Class Noble of Corea, and a Companion of the Double Dragon of China. On the journey out here, I frequently ran across a classmate, in Paris, in Heidelberg, and even in Cairo, where I met Dorr preparing for a trip up the Nile. The four of us, who are in China, are widely scattered: Clarke being at the most remote part of all, Lungchow, where he has been buried for three years,— I hope soon to be restored to the world,— while Spinney and Morse are taking care of the two ends of Formosa.

Spinney I have seen once at Shanghai, but Clarke and Morse I have not met since we were last at home together. I shall be with the class in spirit on our twentieth anniversary, though it may not be until our quarter centennial that I shall meet the fellows in the flesh."

HENRY CHILDS MERWIN.

Writes as follows: "Since your last report I have written a book about horses, called 'Road, Track, and Stable,' which was published by Little, Brown & Co. I have also written numerous essays and squibs for the 'Atlantic Monthly,' and other periodicals. I am now editing my father's lectures on Equity, and also Judge Curtis's lectures on the Jurisdiction of Federal Courts. I am also the author of an essay on 'The Humane Training and Treatment of the Horse,' which took the prize offered to Veterinary Surgeons and professional horse trainers by the American Humane Education Society, for an essay on the subject. This has lately been published. I come under the head of 'Professional Horse Trainers,' having been employed in that capacity, besides breaking my own colts. I have also been employed to select and purchase horses of various kinds. I am a lecturer at the Law School of Boston University, and am a special justice of the District Court of Central Middlesex. I still live on a small farm in Concord, Mass., and I am the fortunate owner of nine well-bred dogs." Is married.

ETHELBERT SMITH MILLS.

By reason of continued ill health, has been unfitted to engage in any business or occupation, since his return from California, in 1881, whither he went in pursuit of health. He is at present at Frankford, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has never married.

JAMES JACKSON MINOT.

Writes as follows: "Has continued to practise medicine in Boston, now having his office at his residence, 188 Marlborough Street; is, by appointment, physician to Boston Dispensary, physician to Carney Hospital, and to out-patient department of Massachusetts General Hospital." Is married and has two children, — his second child, James Jackson, Junior, being born Nov. 17, 1891.

★EUGENE USHER MITCHELL. Born Feb. 14, 1851, at Newfield, Me.; died at Port au Prince, Hayti, Aug. 29, 1881.

See Secretary's Report, No. 4 (1884), pp. 31, 32.

HENRY LEE MORSE.

Has continued to practise medicine in Boston, and to have his office at his residence, 112 Marlborough Street. Since the last report was published, he "has received the appointment of Assistant Aural Surgeon to the Children's Hospital in Boston, and has resigned from the staff of the Boston Dispensary." Is married and has one child, Jessie Gwendolen, born in 1886, whose name was incorrectly given in the last report.

HOSEA BALLOU MORSE.

Has continued in the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs Service, and writes from Tamsui, China, March 7, 1894, as follows: "In the spring of 1889, I went in charge to Pakhoi, at the head of the Gulf of Tongking. After a year there, took two years' leave, which I spent between America and Europe, getting in a whole summer at the White Mountains, and a winter in Italy. Returned to China in the spring of 1892, and have since been in charge at Tamsui, with the northern half of Formosa for my district. Spinney rules, 'in the house of the sun,' the southern half of the island, so we divide the Province between us. We four are, however, pretty well separated, as Merrill watches the mouth of the Yangtsze, and Clarke guards the frontier between China and French Tongking. I am now Deputy Commissioner of Customs on the Staff, Acting Commissioner at Tamsui, and by Imperial Decree, am a blue-button mandarin, with the third civil rank, and have the decoration of the Double Dragon. I am, on the whole, well satisfied with my position, but would like the silver dollar to be worth something more than forty-seven cents. I am well off for houses, as I have one here for headquarters, one at Kelung (thirty miles away), my sub-port, one at Taipei, where the Governor of the Province lives (ten miles away), and a chalet, twelve hundred feet up on the mountain side. We have most lovely scenery, and not too much fever, and my work is interesting."

WILLIAM LAMBERT MORSE.

Writes as follows: "In the year 1877 I became a member of the firm of Morse & Bigelow, doing a general merchandise business at Marlboro', Mass. Our firm was established in 1822 by Lambert Bigelow, who was my grandfather. It now consists of William Morse (my father), E. L. Bigelow (my uncle), and myself. I have now served eleven consecutive years as a member of the Marlboro' School Committee, and my present term of office expires January, 1895, when I hope to be relieved from any further duty in this line. I am a trustee of the Marlboro' Savings Bank and am one of the examiners of the Civil Service Board of the city of Marlboro'. During the summer and fall of 1888 I travelled abroad for my health, visiting Great Britain and the continent. In the early spring of 1892, I made a visit to various parts of the West spending quite a time in Colorado." Is married and has one child living.

THEODORE WILLIAM MOSES.

Writes as follows: "Have been engaged in teaching in New York City, chiefly tutoring boys in the classics, mathematics, and the modern languages. Am a member of the New England Society of New York and 'The Players' of that city. Spent the summer of 1891 in Europe." His last residence in New York City was at 138 East Fortieth Street.

HENRY SANFORD MUDGE.

Has not been in active business since 1884, when he disposed of his cattle herds and ranches in Hodgeman County, Kansas. Since then has travelled much in Europe and in this country. (No report since 1877.)

RICHARD COLE NEWTON.

Has continued in the practice of medicine and surgery at Montclair, N. J., and "has joined the Erie Railway Surgeons' Association and National Railway Surgeons' Association; am physician to Essex County (N. J.) Penitentiary. Belong to Society for the Relief of the Widows and Orphans of Medical Men of New Jersey; am a member of the American Medical Association, and Orange Mountain Medical Society; am one of the visiting staff to the Mountainside Hospital in Montclair, and surgeon to the New York and Greenwood Lake Railroad; also belong to the Harvard Club of New York City, and the Society of the Alumni of Charity Hospital of New York City; am an honorary member of the New Jersey State Dental Society. Have read a number of papers before these different societies, of which several have been published; among those recently published are a paper on 'The Occurrence of Angina Pectoris and Epilepsy in Varying Forms in the Same Subject,' in the Medical Record of April 29, 1893, and 'A Case of Fracture and Dislocation of the Second Lumbar Vertebra, with Operation,' in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences, of April 7, 1894. . . . Am one of the Trustees of the Montclair Free Public Library and clerk of the Board; am treasurer of a committee of three (a Yale man, an Amherst man, and myself) who have gotten up two successful annual dinners for the college men of Montclair, about sixty alumni of various institutions being present at these dinners; was for a few months connected with the editorial department of the Montclair Herald, and am more or less actively interested in politics and in matters of education in Montclair." Is married and has two children. Office at 19 North Fullerton Avenue, and residence at 71 North Fullerton Avenue, Montclair, N. J.

WILLIAM ICHABOD NICHOLS.

Writes as follows: "In November, 1889, I resigned my charge of the church in Littleton, Mass., over which I had been settled for five years, and accepted an invitation to become minister of the Spring Garden Unitarian Society in Philadelphia, entering the second Sunday of December the position, which I still hold. I have taken interest in municipal affairs, and am a member of the Board of Management of the Municipal League of Philadelphia, and of the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Society for Organizing Charity. I was married Dec. 22, 1891, to Minerva Parker Maxwell, of Philadelphia, daughter of John Wesley Parker, deceased, of Peoria, Ill." Resides at 1616 Mount Vernon Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN PARSONS.

Is still engaged in the real estate business in Denver, Col., whither he removed in 1886. In the spring of 1892, became one of the force of the Denver Public Library. Is married and has one child. Resides at 1228 Corona Street, Denver, Col.

JOHN SIDNEY PATTON.

Writes as follows: "Am still in the practice of the law in Boston, having removed my office in September, 1892, from 34 School Street to the Exchange Building (Room 518), 53 State Street. Since last report, daughter, Margaret, was born April 28, 1893." Resides at 14 Reedsdale Street, Allston (Boston), Mass.

CHARLES SHERBURNE PENHALLOW.

Writes as follows: "Since last report, I have remained in the office of J. Montgomery Sears, Esq., Sears Building, Boston, having completed fifteen years there. In addition to my duties in connection with that office, I have been Treasurer of the Norton Door Check and Spring Company the last seven years, and am also Treasurer of the Ferd. F. French & Co. (Limited), Carriage Manufacturers, etc. My youngest son, and fourth child, Pearce Wentworth, died Aug. 3, 1889. Louise Harrison was born May 31, 1890, and Mary Warner, Aug. 12, 1891." Resides at 56 Eliot Street, Jamaica Plain (Boston), Mass.

WILLIAM MAY PERKINS.

Has continued in the employ of the West End Street Railway Company in Boston. Is married and has three children. Resides at 6 Rush Street, Somerville, Mass.

MARSHALL LIVINGSTON PERRIN.

Writes as follows: "In the summer of 1889 I returned to Germany, where I had already spent several years as instructor and student at the Universities, and in travel. Received the degree of Ph. D. from the University of Goettingen in August, 1889, passing my examinations in the Teutonic languages and Sanskrit. The subject of the dissertation published was 'Ueber Thomas Castelfords' Chronik von England.' Returned in the fall to the position of Instructor of German and Anglo-Saxon in Boston University. Was appointed Assistant Professor in 1890 and full Professor in 1892. Dec. 22, 1889, my son Harold Livingston was born; his mother died soon after, Jan. 18, 1890, from a severe attack of the Grippe, which was then prevalent for the first time. Have translated with G. Bradford, Jr., for T. Y. Crowell & Co., the five volumes of 'Von Sybel's Founding of the German Empire.' Besides holding some minor public offices, am Superintendent of Schools in the town of Wellesley, Mass. Shall spend the summer at Martha's Vineyard in connection with the Teachers' Institute, taking charge of the Department of Teutonic Languages. Am still residing at Wellesley Hills, Mass."

EDWARD GOULD PETERS.

In 1889 gave up his law office in Boston and went abroad. Has since resided in Paris, and was for some time in the law office of Hall & Boddington, 19 Rue Scribe in that city, attending also lectures at the Law School there. His European address is care Perier, Mercet & Cie., Paris, France. (No report since 1884.)

ARTHUR HOWARD PICKERING.

Writes as follows: "During the last five years my time has been chiefly devoted to reading and writing. I have given courses of readings from Browning, Sophocles, Æschylus, Shakespeare, and other authors in Boston, Washington, Detroit, New Haven and other cities. I have also read more or less in London where I have passed the last three springs and summers. I have written for a large number of papers, assigned articles and special work. For several years I was a regular correspondent of the Boston Herald and have written signed letters from England to the Saturday Evening Gazette. Have also done work for the Boston Journal and the New York World and have had a story published in the Bradford Argus, an English paper." Resides at 64 Dudley Street, Roxbury (Boston), Mass.

WILLIAM TAGGARD PIPER.

Writes as follows: "Since the last report I have continued to live at 179 Brattle Street, Cambridge. In 1890, I was a member of the Board of Aldermen of Cambridge, and in 1891 was elected as a member of the School Committee, on which I am still serving. In January, 1892, I was appointed Trustee of the Cambridge Public Library and have been twice reappointed. Am a member of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, and a director of the Cambridge Safe Deposit and Trust Company. My fourth child, Ralph Crosby, was born in Cambridge, Aug. 29, 1890."

SYLVESTER PRIMER.

Writes from Austin, Tex., as follows: "In 1889–90, I went to the Friends' School of Providence, R. I., where I taught one year. In 1890–91, I received a call to Colorado College, Colorado Springs, Col., and remained there one year. In 1891-92, I was called to the Chair of Modern Languages at the University of Texas, and have been here now for three years. I am well pleased, and hope to remain here permanently. I have written an article on 'The Pronunciation of Fredericksburg, Va.,' one on 'The Pronunciation of West Virginia,' and one on 'The Conditional in German.' I have also edited three books for D. C. Heath's Modern Language Series, — Chamisso's 'Peter Schlemihl,' Lessing's 'Minna von Barnhelm' and 'Nathan the Wise.'" Resides at 704 Colorado Street, Austin, Tex.

FRANK ELDRIDGE RANDALL.

Is still practising law in New York City, having offices in Aldrich Court, 45 Broadway, and resides in Lakeville, Conn., though spending a part of each week in New York. Was married April 29, 1891, at Lakeville, Conn., to Gertrude Meredith (Holley) Olmstead, eldest daughter of Alexander L. and Mary (Slade) Holley. Has one child, Paul King, born April 12, 1892.

★NICHOLAS REED. Born March 17, 1850, at Farmville, Va.; died at Boston, Mass., Nov. 16, 1874.

See Secretary's Report, No. 2 (1877), pp. 33, 34.

HUNTINGTON RICHARDS.

Writes as follows: "In October, 1891, I resigned the positions held at the Vanderbilt Clinic and New York Eye and Ear Infirmary, and removed from New York City to Des Moines, Iowa, purposing to continue there my work as an otologist. In July, 1892, I came back to the East on a vacation, returned to Des Moines in November, and early in January, 1893, became once more a New Yorker in fact, as I had ever been in mind. Since July, 1892, I have made no attempt to resume the practice of medicine, and since September, 1893, I have resided at my old school home at St. Paul's School, near Concord, N. H., doing what I can as one of the instructing staff, and also medically to be of service to the school. I retain my membership in the American Otological Society, but neither expect or desire to resume the practice of medicine, having been tired of it for years past, and being happy and contented under the wing of my old Alma Mater so long as I can be of use to her."

WILLIAM REUBEN RICHARDS.

Continues to practise law in Boston, as a member of the firm of Richards, Shaw and Clarke, having offices at 27 State Street. Has been, since 1889, one of the Trustees of the Boston Public Library, and for some years secretary of the Boston Athenæum. Resides at 2 Marlborough Street, Boston.

GEORGE CARR RICHARDSON.

Writes as follows: "I am still employed in the Auditing Department of the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul Railroad, the office being moved in 1889 from Milwaukee, Wis., to Chicago." Is married and has one child living. Resides at Evanston, Ill.

WILLIAM RICHMOND.

Accepted the rectorship of All Saints' Parish, in Orange, N. J., April 18, 1885, and has continued to reside in Orange, and to occupy that position. Was Deputy to the Episcopal General Convention in 1892, and chairman of the committee on Constitution and Canons. July 14, 1891, was married, in Orange, to Grace Fay Hooker, daughter of William Throop Hooker, deceased.

GEORGE RIDDLE.

Writes as follows: "Since 1889 I have given readings in all the principal cities of this country and Canada, having crossed the continent four times. I have read sixty-five times in California, thirty-one of those appearances having been made in San Francisco. On May 8, 1891, I gave my one thousandth reading, choosing Cambridge for the place. I have taken especial pride and pleasure in reading with orchestral accompaniment, my work in that direction including Byron's 'Manfred,' with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under Wilhelm Gericke and Arthur Nikisch, in the Boston Music Hall; with the New York Symphony Orchestra under Walter Damrosch, in the Metropolitan Opera House and Brooklyn Academy of Music, and with the Chicago Apollo Club. I have read 'Antigone' with the Cincinnati Apollo Club and Boston Apollo Club; 'Œdipus at Colonos,' in the Philadelphia Academy of Music with The Cecilian. I have read 'Midsummer Night's Dream' two hundred and fifty times with the New York, Boston, Chicago, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Cleveland, and San Francisco orchestras. I have added fifteen plays of Shakespeare, five of Victor Hugo, and Goethe's 'Faust' to my repertoire. My work is a constant pleasure and delight to me. It has been a source of pride to receive from classmates everywhere strong marks of friendship and good feeling. Such fraternal feeling has been more than returned with gratitude. I hope that my future work may not cast discredit on our proud old class." Resides at 6 Arrow Street, Cambridge, Mass.

ARTHUR LANDON RIVES.

Has not been in any active business or profession. He spends the winter months mostly in Washington, D. C., and in the summer is at Newport, R. I., and when at neither of these places, is generally at his country place at Cobham, Va.

HENRY BELLOWS ROBERTS.

Remained as pastor of the Congregational Church in West Hartford, Conn., until he became pastor of the Third Congregational Church in Torrington, Conn., over which he was installed May 6, 1890, and where he is still located. Is married and has four children.

CALVIN PROCTOR SAMPSON.

Has continued to practise law in Boston, now having his office at 27 School Street. Is married and has one child. Resides at 9 Greenough Avenue, Jamaica Plain (Boston), Mass.

GEORGE PARTRIDGE SANGER.

Has continued in the general practice of law in Boston having his office, since March 23, 1891, at 940 Exchange Building, 53 State Street. In March, 1891, was appointed a Commissioner of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts. In June, 1893, was reappointed by the Governor a Master in Chancery for Suffolk County, Massachusetts, for another term of five years. In 1890 was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature for a second year, as a Representative from Ward 11, Boston, and the present year is a member of the Massachusetts Senate, from the Fifth Suffolk Senatorial District, comprising Wards 9, 10, and 11, of Boston, with appointments on the following committees: Cities (Chairman), Judiciary, Rules and Election Laws. In 1891, was in Europe for about eight months, visiting England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Holland, and Belgium. Is married. Resides at Hotel Vendome, Boston.

WILLIAM CARY SANGER.

Writes as follows: "Resides at Sangerfield, Oneida County, N. Y. Has published a series of papers on foreign travel under the title of 'Letters from an Idle Traveller,' and has published some papers on military subjects. Represents the town of Sangerfield on the Republican County Committee of Oneida County. Is president of the Oneida County League for Good Roads; is Colonel and Assistant Chief of Artillery on the staff of the Governor of New York. Was married, Feb. 23, 1892, in New York City, to Mary Ethel Cleveland, only daughter of Gen. Charles Cleveland and Mary Theresa Bradhurst (Schieffelin) Dodge. Has two children: William Cary, Jr., born Feb. 9, 1893, and Henry Lawrence, born April 13, 1894."

★ CHARLES WESLEY SAVAGE, the son of Rev. Isaac A. and Mary Ann (Clarke) Savage, was born at Holliston, Mass., June 14,1852, and died at Lowell, Mass., Feb. 28, 1890.

In the spring of 1869, while attending the Cambridge High School, he formed the determination to acquire a college education, influenced, as he himself has said, by its desirableness as a preparation for almost any work. He entered Dartmouth College in 1870, and ranked first in his class for the Freshman year. In 1871 he entered the Sophomore class at Harvard. While his quiet and retiring disposition prevented his becoming as well known to his classmates as some others, still those of us who were thrown in close contact with him soon came to recognize his sincere and earnest character. After graduating, he was, for a few months, Professor of Latin and Mathematics in Johnson College, at Quincy, Ill. He then began the study of law, pursuing it at Quincy, Ill., in the office of Hon. O. H. Browning, later at Detroit, Mich., and later still at Boston University, and in the office of Sumner Albee, Esq., in Boston. Meanwhile he had been for a year principal of the Francestown Academy in New Hampshire. In June, 1877, he was graduated from the School of Law of Boston University, and, going back to Detroit, was admitted to practice at the Wayne County bar. Circumstances frustrated his intention of making this place his permanent abode, and eight months later he returned East and established himself at Lowell, Mass., where he remained practising his profession as long as his failing health permitted. When the Board of Registrars of Voters for Lowell was created, he was appointed a member, and held the position of chairman for several years. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of St. Paul's Church, and filled the office of clerk of the board with fidelity and ability for a long time.

Soon after leaving college, he showed signs of pulmonary weakness. Against this insidious disease he fought long and bravely. After warding off the approach of the inevitable by every means that intelligent and persistent effort could suggest, he was finally obliged to succumb, and in December last, feeling that he was not able to bear the rigors of a Northern winter, he went to Asheville, N. C., with the hope that he might at least prolong the life which he felt even then to be fast slipping away. The hope was vain, his condition changed rapidly for the worse, and he returned to die among his friends.

His long sickness, coming at the time when a young lawyer is just beginning to get his grip, doubtless made his practice much smaller than it otherwise would have been, and latterly kept him entirely out of court. To this effect, his unobtrusive disposition naturally added. He was, however, contented with his work, characteristically preferring a small practice, well followed, to a large one indifferently attended to, and was well liked by both clients and attorneys. The tribute paid his memory by his associates of the Lowell bar breathes a feeling only to be prompted by sincere regard for a fine and noble character.

During the latter part of his life, after his failing health compelled him to drop his professional work, he became interested in genealogical researches. In this way his mind was diverted from his own trouble, and he accomplished much, considering his strength. The family on the paternal side comes from John Savage, of Connecticut Colony, in 1652, and on the maternal side from the Clarkes, of Newburyport, of the same date, good old New England stock, both.

Thus passes on another of our number, leaving with us the lesson of a patient, heroic effort in a struggle whose end was inevitable.

A. L. G.

At the class meeting on Commencement Day, June 25, 1890, the tribute of respect to the memory of our classmate, prepared by a committee consisting of Goodrich, E. W. Cate, and D. L. Withington, was formally presented and entered on the class records. This tribute, with the above memorial notice, was sent, March 28, 1890, to the family of the deceased and to each member of the class. A card announcing his death was also sent to the class, March 5, 1890.

ROBERT W. SAWYER.

Writes as follows: "Address: Bangor, Me."

DAVID SEARS.

Writes as follows: "Residence: 420 Beacon Street, Boston. Occupation: trying to keep well. Have been to Europe several times, and the rest of the time has been passed in knocking about the eastern part of the United States."

EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS.

Writes as follows: "In 1891 I closed my private school for girls in Boston and assumed the charge of the Mary Institute in St. Louis, one of the largest private schools for girls in the country. The Institute is a branch of Washington University, has behind it a board of directors composed of the most substantial men in St. Louis, and is as thoroughly graded and well disciplined as the public schools. I have the supervision of twenty-five teachers and three hundred and fifty girls, and my work is of necessity almost entirely executive in character. On the whole I find this work more interesting and attractive than any I have undertaken. I am still unmarried and live chiefly at the University Club in St. Louis. My summers are spent at my mother's home in Weston, Mass."

THEODORE LOVETT SEWALL.

In 1889, his preparatory school for boys in Indianapolis, Ind., which he opened in September, 1876, was disposed of, on account of increasing work in other lines, and he has since, with his wife, devoted himself to the Girls' Classical School in Indianapolis, which was opened in 1882, and "which has been very successful. A boarding department was established in 1884. The school employs seventeen teachers and has an average enrolment of one hundred and seventy-five pupils. Was for ten years secretary and for one year president of the Indianapolis Literary Club, and am now secretary of the Contemporary Club of Indianapolis and of the Indiana Harvard Club. Has spent four summers in Europe and written many newspaper letters. Has lectured occasionally on literary subjects." Resides at his school building, 343 North Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

GEORGE CLARENCE SHEPARD.

Is still living at El Cajon, San Diego County, Cal., where, in 1886, he bought land and planted a vineyard, and which he has since been engaged in cultivating. Writes as follows: " . . . Life in our little valley is uneventful, and this year, in addition to the burden of the depression of business in general, San Diego County is going through the experience of a 'dry year,' when only about a third of the necessary rainfall has appeared. Received, the past year, a pleasant visit from Forster, who is out here sampling the climate, and see Withington occasionally in San Diego."

GEORGE SALTONSTALL SILSBEE.

Remained with Jacob C. Rogers, Esq., to assist him in representing in Boston the banking firm of J. S. Morgan & Co., of London, Eng., until Oct. 15, 1889; then became Treasurer of the York Manufacturing Company, situated at Saco, Me., and of the Everett Mills, at Lawrence, Mass., both mills making colored cotton goods. His offices are in the Simmons Building, 40 Water Street, Boston. Was married in 1888, and has two children: George Saltonstall, Jr., born Nov. 2, 1890, and Elizabeth, born Oct. 18, 1893. Is now living at 512 Beacon Street, Boston, in a house built by himself.

EDWARD EMERSON SIMMONS.

Writes as follows: "I shall for many years now be a New Yorker, and keep as an address 16 Gramercy Park. Occupation: painter. Family the same" (wife and two boys). With other American artists, he was employed in the mural decoration of some of the buildings at the World's Fair in Chicago, and his special work there in the Manufactures and Liberal Arts buildings was artistic and highly commended. His design for the stained glass window placed by the class in Memorial Hall, under his supervision, was admirably done. A further description of this window and his work in connection therewith is elsewhere described in this report. His wife, Vesta Schallenberger Simmons, shares her husband's artistic tastes and has displayed some of her paintings at collections in this country; she has also written novels, two of which, "Green Tea" and "Men and Men," have been recently published in England and in this country. In the spring of 1892, they moved their home in England from St. Ives, Cornwall, to Haslemere, Surrey, known so long as the home of Tyndall and Tennyson.

ROBERT ALEXANDER SOUTHWORTH.

Writes as follows: "I have been counsel for most of the railroad and railway corporations in Massachusetts since 1889, having confined my efforts to that branch of the law which deals with quasi public corporations." His office is at 48 Congress Street, Boston. Is married and has one child. Resides on Salisbury Road, Brookline, Mass.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN SPINNEY.

Has continued in the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs Service, and writes from Takow, China, March 18, 1894, as follows: "At the date of my last report, in 1889, I was at Canton under orders to report at Shanghai 'for orders.' I was detained at Canton until the middle of June, 1889. On my arrival at Shanghai the 'orders' were not ready, and I was told to take six weeks' leave which I spent most enjoyably with my wife in Japan, at Yokohama and Miyanoshita. After my return to Shanghai, I was appointed Acting Commissioner of Customs at Wuhu, a port on the Yangtze, two hundred and fifty miles above Shanghai, and took charge there at the end of August. Wuhu is the centre of the best shooting district in China. Pheasants, wild fowl, and snipe abound, and deer, woodcock, and hares are frequently, and wild pig occasionally, seen. I enjoyed the shooting thoroughly and left the place with regret in April, 1891. When we started for home, on two years' leave, our voyage, via Japan and Honolulu to San Francisco, was made in fine weather and on a smooth sea and was less dreary and monotonous than long voyages usually are; and the overland trip was enlivened by a break at Portland, Oregon, and a visit to the Yellowstone Park. After six months at home, we went to London in January, 1892, and during the winter and spring saw something of Paris, Italy, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and England. It is a lasting regret that we arrived back from this trip a day too late for the class dinner in 1892. On my return to China, in April, 1893, I was appointed Deputy Commissoner at Amoy and held that position until the end of November when I was transferred to Tainan, Formosa, as Acting Commissioner, where I am at present, residing at Takow."

CHARLES WELLINGTON STONE.

Writes as follows: "My school for boys, conducted at my residence, 68 Chestnut Street, Boston, has now completed its fifteenth year. I have sent twenty-eight young men into Harvard, and have now in the school one of the sons of '74. He is a gentleman and a scholar, and does the class honor. I was elected, in 1890, secretary of the Handel and Haydn Society, and edited the membership lists for the history of that society, published in 1893. In 1893, I delivered before the Massachusetts Association of Classical and High School Teachers an address, which has since been published as a rejoinder to the report of the committee of the Harvard Overseers on the subject of English. My daughter, Elsa Wellington, was born July 20, 1891."

EDWIN PALMER STONE.

Has continued in the wholesale boot and shoe business in Boston, with his brother, Albert Stone, Esq., at 33 High Street. In May, 1892, built a new house on the corner of Argyle and Sutherland Roads, near the Chestnut Hill Reservoir, in that part of Boston called "Aberdeen," where he now resides. Is a member of the Boston Athletic Association. Is married and has two children.

FREDERICK JOSEPH STONE.

Has continued in the practice of law in New York City, now having his offices at 60 Broadway, and makes a specialty of real estate and corporate law. Is married and has three children living, two having died. Resides at Dobbs Ferry, Westchester County, N. Y.

HENRY L. STRAUS.

Writes as follows: "My residence is 2026 Eutaw Place. Office: 6 South Street, Baltimore, Md. I am still in the practice of law. In addition to the birth of the two children already reported, two other children have been born: Harry M., on March 20, 1891, who died Jan. 5, 1892, and Rachel M., born May 16, 1892."

FREDERICK SWIFT.

Writes as follows: ". . . Have changed my place of business to New York City, where I am associated with Goodwin in certain electric railways, and also in zinc and lead mining, with offices now at 66 Broadway. Also on Sept. 15, 1893, I was appointed one of the Receivers of the Cleveland, Canton & Southern R. R. Co., of Ohio, which takes a great deal of my time and attention." Is married and has three children.

★ ARCHIBALD DICK THOMAS. Born Jan. 13, 1853, at West Chester, Pa.; died at West Chester, Pa., March 25, 1881.

See Secretary's Report, No. 4 (1884), pp. 41, 42.

CHARLES SANDERS TUCKERMAN.

Writes as follows: "In May, 1890, resigned the position of Assistant Secretary of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad Company, and was appointed Treasurer of the Old Colony Trust Company, of Boston. In January, 1892, was chosen Vice-President of the same company and continue to hold the combined offices of Vice-President and Treasurer. Have four children, my youngest, Leverett Saltonstall, having been born Dec. 2, 1892. Am Paymaster on the Staff of the Naval Brigade." Resides at Ipswich, Mass., and spends the winter months in his old home at Salem.

COLUMBUS TYLER TYLER.

Returned to Boston in October, 1889, from Iloilo, Philippine Islands, having severed his connection as partner in the firm of Tyler & Co., engaged there in the sugar business. Since March, 1890, has been in Seattle, Wash., at first looking after the real estate interests of Eastern capitalists there, and recently also as agent of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, of New York, for the States of Washington and Oregon; is president of the Rainier Club, the leading club of Seattle, and a director of the Guarantee Loan and Trust Company of that city. A daughter, Margaret, was born July 4, 1891. (No report.)

HARRY BLAKE TYLER.

Writes from Philadelphia, Pa., as follows: "In November, 1890, I was elected to serve two years as a member of the Legislature. Since the expiration of my term I have not held any public office, although I still continue to take an active interest in politics." Resides at 201 South Fifteenth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WILLIAM ROYALL TYLER.

Writes as follows: "Have continued to live here in Quincy, Mass., and to teach in Adams Academy. Last spring, when Dr. William Everett was elected to Congress, he resigned the mastership of Adams Academy, and the managers elected me Master in his place. My appointment dated from Aug. 1, 1893." Is married and has one child. Resides at 7 Saville Avenue, Quincy, Mass.

FREDERICK OZNI VAILLE.

Writes as follows: "Since the last report I have been at my home in Lexington, Mass., until 1893, when business interests called me again to Denver, Col., where I shall remain for a time longer before returning to Lexington, which continues to be my mail address." Is married; his third daughter, Agnes Wolcott, was born April 16, 1890.

GEORGE WILLETT VAN NEST.

Writes from New York City as follows: "Since the last report I have been pegging away at the law, at which occupation I have captured a satisfactory number of ducats. Among the causes which I have lately argued in the Court of Appeals (N. Y.) are three which may be considered leading cases: Kane v. New York, 125 N. Y. 185; Kernochan v. New York, 128 N. Y. 559, and Kearney v. Metropolitan Elev. R. R. Co., 129 N. Y. 76. Have been a Governor of the Democratic Club, and a Manager of the Harvard Club for certain periods. Am a member of the University, Metropolitan, Manhattan, Down Town, Harvard, Democratic, and Nassau Boat Clubs, and of the Holland Society, and Association of the Bar. In summer, when in town, I row my shell on the Harlem, more or less, in the fall I ride on horse-back, and in the winter do a good deal of walking, so that usually I am in the pink of condition. My rooms are at 345 Fifth Avenue; my office is at 62 Wall Street."

EDWARD WOOD WALKER.

Writes as follows: "My residence is Cincinnati, Ohio. Occupation: Physician. Have been for the past four years Professor of Surgery at the Miami Medical College, and at the Presbyterian Hospital Woman's Medical College, and on the surgical staff of the Cincinnati and Episcopal Hospital for Children. Am a member of the National Surgical Association, Cincinnati Academy of Medicine, and Ohio State Medical Society. Have written several articles for home and foreign medical journals. Am still unmarried." Residence and office at 96 West Eighth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

WILLIAM PEARSON WARNER.

Has continued in business in Boston with Parkinson & Burr, stock brokers, now at 29 Exchange Building, 53 State Street. Is married and has three children, his third child, Margaret, being born Aug. 4, 1890. Resides at 5 Fayerweather Street, Cambridge, Mass.

EDWARD WINSLOW WELLINGTON.

Writes as follows: "Since report in 1889, I have continued in the loan business with office at Ellsworth, Kansas, but am at present chiefly engaged in looking after the interests of Eastern investors, collecting delinquent loans, foreclosing mortgages, and taking general charge of properties after title has been acquired, seeing that the same are rented and sold. In spring of 1890 bought out my partner's interest in the firm, and since then have conducted the business alone. Have had all the degrees in Masonry including the thirty-second. Have filled all the chairs in the various bodies of the York Rite and am a member of all the Masonic Grand Bodies of the State. At present I have the honor of being Chief Rabbau of Isis Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S. In the fall of 1892, was Republican candidate for the State Legislature, but lacked twelve votes of securing an election. I was well satisfied, however, as I had to fight the combined Populist, Democratic, and Temperance parties, who together cast over one hundred and twenty-five illegal votes to help secure their end. This was a case where a college education did not count for much, as my successful opponent was a Bohemian, Catholic, Populist farmer, who has n't as thorough a knowledge of the English language as a representative of American principles should have; but nevertheless he knew enough to vote for all Populist measures, when told to, and somehow managed to pay off the mortgage on his farm, thus gladdening the heart of some Eastern investor. It is needless to add that we shall have no more Populist Representatives hereafter, and I believe Kansas will be redeemed next November." Is married and has one child.

FRANK THAXTER WENDELL.

Has been since July 1, 1883, a partner in the firm of Wendell, Fay and Co., dry-goods commission merchants, at 37 Franklin Street, Boston, and 82 Worth Street, New York City, and selling agents of the Middlesex Mills, of Lowell, Mass., and other mills. Is married and has five children; his fifth child, Percy, was born July 16, 1889. Resides at 84 Highland Street, Roxbury (Boston), Mass.

WILLIAM ASA WHEELER.

Has continued in the United States Marine Hospital Service, and writes as follows: "I was in Buffalo, N. Y., until May, 1889, and held the Chair of Surgery in the Niagara Medical College for two years. Then had charge of the United States Marine Hospital, at Norfolk, Va., for three years. In April, 1892, was commissioned a Surgeon in the United States Marine Hospital Service, and in May, was assigned by the Secretary of the Treasury to take charge of the Medical Department of the United States Immigration Service at the Hospitals at Ellis Island, New York Harbor. In 1893 was sent by the government to inspect emigration methods in all the European ports. Am still in charge of the Medical Department of Immigration Service, and my residence is 273 Ryerson Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. A second child, Horatio Q., was born March 24, 1890."

GEORGE WARNER WHITE.

Is still practising law in Boston, having offices with Southworth, in the State Mutual Life Building, 48 Congress Street, and resides at Melrose, Mass. Travelled in Europe in 1892. His wife died May 25, 1884.

EDWARD LAWRENCE WHITEHOUSE.

In 1889 was practising law at Augusta, Me., and is believed to be still doing so. (No report.)

GEORGE WIGGLESWORTH.

Writes as follows: "Residence, Milton, Mass.; occupation, treasurer and trustee. . . ." Has recently been again elected Treasurer of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Is married and has six children; his fifth child, Richard Bowditch, was born April 25, 1891, and Frank was born Feb. 7, 1893. His office is in Fiske Building, Room 91, 89 State Street, Boston.

* HENRY HOUGHTON WILLIAMS. Born June 8, 1854, at Worcester, Mass.; died at Worcester, Mass., June 20, 1876.

See Secretary's Report, No. 2 (1877), pp. 44, 45.

CHARLES FRANCIS WITHINGTON.

Writes as follows: "The past five years have been passed quietly and pleasantly in the professional duties of a private practice, and in those attaching to the positions which I hold of assistant visiting physician to the Boston City Hospital, and Instructor in Clinical Medicine in the Harvard Medical School. The only considerable breaks in this routine were a European trip of two or three months in the summer of 1891, and a winter's residence abroad with my family in 1892–3, the greater part of the time being spent in professional study in Berlin, with some three months of travel prior to my return in July, 1893. I have written little for publication, except an occasional medical paper. My fourth child, Paul Richmond, was born June 21, 1890." Residence (after Oct. 1), 1 Elm Hill Avenue, Roxbury (Boston), Mass.

DAVID LITTLE WITHINGTON.

Writes from San Diego, Cal., as follows: "Since last report have pursued happiness successfully in struggling to support an incipient fruit ranch and growing family, out of the practice of the law in a community where it is easier to accumulate assets than to convert them into cash. My health was fully restored by a campaigning tour in 1890, for the Republican party, through the mining and cattle districts in the back country. Have held no public offices (except vicariously through my wife), other than in the line of my profession as attorney for the State Board of Harbor Commissioners for Bay of San Diego, and for several Irrigation Districts, and have done nothing worthy of mention save to make two blades grow where one was before, having four sons in place of two. The increase being Lothrop, born Aug. 23, 1889, and Frederick Burnham, born Feb. 10, 1891. The only thing of interest that I can recall is the discovery of Forster, last fall at Los Angeles, where I was courting a United States judge and he the sea breezes, a most delightful discovery to find something, and that a living entity, unchanged and apparently unchangeable, and with as much interest and enthusiasm for '74, as I or any of the class has."

SAMUEL BAYARD WOODWARD.

Has continued to practise medicine in Worcester, Mass., now having his office at his residence, 58 Pearl Street. Is a member of several local societies. Is married.

JOHN PALMER WYMAN.

Has continued in the practice of the law in Boston, having offices at 30 Court Street. Is married and has two children living; his youngest child, Samuel Edwin, 2d, died March 6, 1890. Resides at 23 Fayette Street, Cambridgeport, Mass.

SAMUEL EDWIN WYMAN.

Writes as follows: "Is still engaged in the practice of medicine, and his office and residence are, as at the last report, at 2 Mount Auburn Street, Cambridge, Mass. He has had his full share of illness, and has consequently been obliged to take frequent vacations for his health. He has published nothing worthy of mention, with the exception of articles written for the medical journals. . . . " Is married.

CLASSMATES NOT GRADUATED WITH US.

★ JULIUS KENRICK ADAMS. Born July 26, 1852, at Lebanon, N. H.; died at Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 11, 1871.

See Secretary's Report, No. 2 (1877), p. 47.

★ CLARENCE ALMY. Born Aug. 15, 1852, at Barrington, R. I.; died at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 6, 1883.

See Secretary's Report, No. 4 (1884), pp. 48, 49.

GEORGE ASHBURNER.

Has continued to reside in London, England, making occasional trips to this country to visit relatives. (Has never made a report.)

CHARLES FANNING BARSTOW.

Has not been in active business. Resides most of the time in Bangor, Me., and generally spends the winter months in Boston. (No report.)

AUGUST BELMONT.

Is a member of the firm of August Belmont & Co., bankers, etc., at 23 Nassau Street, New York City, and is also associated in the directory of many large corporations, among which were, in 1889, the Manhattan Trust Company and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad. Is married, and has two children. (No report.)

CHARLES WARLAND BIGELOW.

Remained in Boston with the firm of Howe, Balch & Tay, Calcutta commission merchants, and dye-woods, chemicals, etc., until January, 1892, when on account of a serious throat affection he was obliged to give up business. In May, 1893, he became associated with the Moosehead Pulp and Paper Company, of Solon, Maine, of which company Stanton Day, of '83, is president. "In this clear, and bracing atmosphere my health is rapidly improving, and, in fact, I now consider myself a well man." Is married.

WILLIAM GIBSON COLESWORTHY.

Is still in the book and stationery business at 66 Cornhill, Boston. Is married and has one child. Resides at Hyde Park, Mass.

EDWARD COLLINS.

Continues to practise law in Boston, now having an office at 258 Washington Street, Room 14. (Has never made a report.)

ARTHUR NORTON CRAM.

Writes as follows: "I am still living in Walpole, Mass., and am at present engaged in business with F. W. Bird & Son, paper manufacturers. Am Chairman of the Board of Selectmen and of the Overseers of the Poor. Since last report, have been blessed with two children, — Edward Stone, born July 10, 1890, and Chauncey Jerome, born Nov. 10, 1893."

WILLIAM JOSEPH LAWRENCE CRANE.

No certain information can be given concerning him since he left the class at the close of the Freshman year. (Has never made a report.)

EDGAR MORA DAVISON.

Writes as follows: "I still live in New York City, and am with August Belmont & Co., at 23 Nassau Street. Our classmate is now the 'August Belmont' and head of the house, so that my position is a good one and associations very pleasant. I have been a director in various companies and am a member of the Century, Reform, and Harvard Clubs." Resides at 110 East Thirty-first Street, New York City.

FRANK CRISTOPHER FALLON.

Is believed to be practising law in Philadelphia, Pa., but no definite information can be given concerning him. (Has never made a report.)

HENRY PEMBROKE FETRIDGE.

Nothing is known by the Class Secretary concerning his present residence and occupation. (Has never made a report.)

FREDERIC ALBERT HACKETT.

Has continued in the stock brokerage business in Boston, and resided, as by the Boston Directory for 1893, at 51 Franklin Street, Allston (Boston), Mass. Is married. (No report.)

ARTHUR DUDLEY HALL.

No definite information can be given concerning his occupation since 1884; he is believed to have done some translating for publishing houses, and the past winter has been some of the time in Boston. (No report since 1884.)

GOOLD HOYT.

Is still residing in New York City; but is not in any active business or profession. (Has never made a report.)

JAMES KEENAN.

In the Boston Herald of Dec. 6, 1891, appeared the following: "One of the most popular of the class of '71 of Phillips Exeter Academy was James Keenan, who is now an Independent Democratic candidate for the Common Council from Ward 16. Since his candidacy became known, many of his former classmates, now well-known business men throughout the city, have called to wish him success for 'Auld Lang Syne'!" If this is our former classmate, it should be further stated that he was elected in 1891, and again in 1892 and 1893 as a member of the Common Council of Boston, and that he is in business as a bottle dealer at 384 Harrison Avenue, and his residence is 1202 Washington Street, Boston. (Has never made a report.)

★GEORGE ROCKWELL KENT. Born July 2, 1853, at Brooklyn, N. Y., died at New York, N. Y., Sept. 26, 1887.

See Secretary's Report, No. 5 (1889), p. 49.

ROCKWELL KING.

Has continued in the iron business in Chicago, Ill., as president of the King and Andrews Company, with iron foundry and offices at 218–222 North Union Street in that city. Is married and has four children. Resides at 63 Hawthorne Place, Chicago, Ill.

EMIL WASHINGTON KRACKOWIZER.

Writes as follows: "Resides at 733 Cass Street, Milwaukee, Wis. Profession: journalist. Occupation: agent, Julia Marlowe. After a year on the Herold in Milwaukee, I put in a year of time and a small pot of money into a German weekly, the Kuenstlerheim, wherein I sought to serve an ideal in art without having previously gauged the density of Philistine contentment with the status quo,— beer and pretzels. Meanwhile my dramatic work on the press had put me in touch with the profession, so that I became press agent and assistant to the manager of the Davidson Theatre, serving in that capacity during the seasons of 1891–92 and 1892–93. Here my work found a complaisant critic in the person of Fred Stinson, Manager of Julia Marlowe, by whom I was engaged in like capacity for the current and coming dramatic seasons. The planning of 'ads' has for some years been a hobby of mine, and placing them, a business. In conclusion, I may confess to backsliding as a 'reformer.' I am, for a change, trying to mind my own business, such as it is; but I find it hard work to quit the Cassandra act — the signs of social upheaval seem so portentous and proximate to me. Nous verrons. . . ." Is married and has four children, his fourth child, Alice Elizabeth being born Nov. 11, 1891.

★ CHAUNCEY EDWARD LOW was born at Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 23, 1851. He was a son of Josiah Orne and Martha Elizabeth (Mills) Low. He studied at the Brooklyn Collegiate and Polytechnic Institute, and was subsequently prepared for college by Prof. James B. Greenough, of Cambridge. He entered the class of 1874, and was the first captain of the class crew. He had always taken a great interest in athletic sports, and was very active in the introduction of the game of foot-ball, which for many years had not been played at Harvard. In February, 1872, he entered the Lawrence Scientific School, where he remained as a student until 1873, when he was compelled by the failure of his eyes to leave the college. In May, 1873, he visited Europe, and the following autumn entered the counting-house of Messrs. A. A. Low & Bros., in New York. On Nov. 4, 1875, he was married to Mary Thompson Frothingham, only daughter of John W. and Mary A. Frothingham, of Brooklyn.

In 1887 the firm of A. A. Low & Bros. retired from business, and Low then took up the study of medicine in the New York Homœopathic College and Hospital. He completed the three years' course in two years, and graduated with the highest honorable mention, receiving the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Shortly after his graduation he received an appointment to the Chair of Anatomy in the same college, as Associate Professor. He was also appointed on the Medical Staff of the Dispensary at the Cumberland Street Homœopathic Hospital in Brooklyn, of which he was one of the Trustees.

These brief facts give but an imperfect outline of Dr. Low's active life. He was largely instrumental in securing for the hospital its new building, and was a most energetic and valuable worker upon the building committee, of which he was chairman. Reference should also be made to his great interest in musical matters. He was a careful student and an intelligent lover of music, and was an earnest and active director of the Brooklyn Philharmonic Society.

Few men have possessed greater kindliness of feeling, thoughtfulness for others, and generosity than Dr. Low. Among the many men who knew him, there is probably not a single one whose feelings have ever been hurt by an unkind word or deed of his. Of his home life it is not for us to speak here, further than to say that his devotion to his family, and his thoughtful and conscientious care of his children's development, were in harmony with his high ideal of duty in these matters.

The position which he attained in the profession which he chose late in life was remarkable, and elicited the hearty commendation of those who saw the industry with which he fitted himself for his new duties. To this work he brought a ripened and matured mind, and his natural aptitude and skill enabled him to accomplish in a relatively short time an amount of work which surprised even his friends. His early death in Brooklyn, Oct. 16, 1890, ended a career which gave promise of great success. A widow and three children survive him.

W. C. S.

★ CHARLES AUSTIN MACKINTOSH. Born August 25, 1853, at West Roxbury, Mass.; died at Dedham, Mass., June 9, 1889.

See Secretary's Report, No. 5 (1889), pp. 50, 51.

FRANCIS HENRY MATTHEWS.

Has continued to be engaged in the wool business in Boston on his own account, and now has his store and offices at 252 Congress Street, corner of Atlantic Avenue. Was married Aug. 24, 1892, at Milton, Mass., to Louise Eldridge Lewin, of Milton. Resides at 198 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston. (No report since 1884.)

GEORGE FRANK MERRILL.

Writes as follows: "After selling out my practice in Cambridge, Me., in 1889, I located in Kennebunkport, Me., where I have since resided, and been actively engaged in the practice of medicine." Is married and has two children.

OTIS OSGOOD ORDWAY.

Writes as follows: "From 1886 until the present time I have remained in East Haverhill, Mass., as pastor of the Second Baptist Church, though having had several invitations to go elsewhere. In a short time I shall close my work here. Episodes and experiences worthy of note I cannot record. I have kept the even tenor of my way and have been as successful as circumstances and ability would warrant. Though a pastorate is not a very permanent affair, yet I have been permitted to enjoy, or rather to have, a comfortable degree of permanency in this one." Is married.

EDMUND QUINCY SEWALL OSGOOD.

Writes as follows: "In the month of October, 1890, I resigned my position as pastor of the Unitarian Society in Grafton, Mass., in order to accept a unanimous invitation to take charge of the First Unitarian Church in Hyde Park, Mass. My installation took place Nov. 20, 1890, and since that time my work has gone on pleasantly, though uneventfully, in this new field. In the autumn of 1892 I was chosen Secretary of the Norfolk Unitarian Conference, an office I still retain." Is married, and has two children. Resides at 20 Albion Street, Hyde Park, Mass.

★CHARLES EDWARD PERKINS. Born April 26, 1851, at Hallowell, Me.; died at Somerville, Mass., Oct. 26, 1883.

See Secretary's Report, No. 4 (1884), pp. 52, 53.

LOUIS ATHERTON POPE.

In the spring of 1889 accepted a call to the Baptist Church in Newburyport, Mass., and has since continued in the pastorate of that church. (No report since 1884.)

WILLIAM LAWRENCE PORTER.

No definite information concerning his present residence and occupation can be given by the Class Secretary. He is believed to reside most of the time at Adirondack, Warren County, N. Y. (Has never made a report.)

JOHN RUFUS RANNEY.

Is believed to be still engaged in the practice of law in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1890, his old firm of Ranneys & McKinney was dissolved after his father's death, and he took an office at Room 533, Society for Savings Building, in Cleveland. Is married. Resides at 781 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. (No report)

BENJAMIN CALVIN REED.

No definite information concerning him since he left the class at the end of Sophomore year can be given by the Class Secretary, but it is said that he is residing and in business in Whitman, Mass. (Has never made a report.)

WALDO REED.

Writes as follows: "I am selling agent for the Reed and Barton Corporation, manufacturers of sterling silver and all kinds of silver-plated ware, in Taunton, Mass. My locations for business are chiefly in Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C. I am secretary of the Harvard Club of Taunton, but am shy of honors, degrees, etc. . . . Can give you no information about McCann, only that the last time I saw him he was on Jarvis Field toying with hot balls. That was twenty-two years ago, and I presume he has changed his location since." Is married.

CHARLES OTIS SCOTT.

Writes from Cleveland, Ohio, as follows: "Am not in any active business, but have been largely interested in several real estate allotments in Cleveland and near Niagara Falls, where there has been quite a little activity on account of the immense tunnel that has been built there to utilize the enormous water power for the purpose of generating electricity. Am interested in several other enterprises that keep me reasonably occupied. Am a patron and life member of the Western Reserve Historical Society, and a member of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce." Resides at the Lennox, Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

THOMAS ELY SECOR.

When last heard from, in 1884, was practising law in New York City, and residing with his family at Pelham Manor, Westchester County, N. Y. Owing to ill health, he has not been able for some years to give any thought or attention to his profession. (No report since 1884.)

SAMUEL PARKMAN SHAW.

Remained in Europe, educating his children, and travelling until 1890, when he came to Milton, Mass., his present place of residence. Is not in active business. Is married and has two children living.

DAVID STUBERT STEPHENS.

Writes from Pittsburg, Pa., as follows: "I am still in my position as editor of the Methodist Recorder, of which I informed you in my last report. I have, in addition to my regular work on my paper, produced some fugitive literary output in the way of contributions to other papers, magazines, etc. Have also written one or two pamphlets that have received more commendation than they deserved, perhaps. Was re-elected to my present position by the unanimous vote of the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church in 1892. Our little daughter, Marie Louise (the youngest of four children), died in July, 1893."

EUGENE FRANCIS WARNER.

Writes as follows: "Has continued the practice of the law, now having his office at 48 Custom House Street, Providence, R. I. Is now, and has been since 1878, Clerk of the Rhode Island Senate. Has been the justice of the Fourth District Court since 1886. Is the Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee of Rhode Island. Reside at Anthony, R. I. Not married."

★JOSEPH WARREN WARREN. Born June 5, 1851, at Charlestown, Mass.; died at Sydney, New South Wales, Aug. 24, 1885.

See Secretary's Report, No. 5 (1889), p. 54.

HENRY TODD WASHBURN.

Writes as follows: "For the last seven years have been in business in Boston with the Walker, Stetson, Sawyer Company, 69 Bedford Street, wholesale dealers in small wares and hosiery. Have been an active member of the Savin Hill Yacht Club for the past five years. Am still unmarried." Resides at 3 Evandale Terrace, Savin Hill, Dorchester (Boston), Mass.

★CHARLES HORACE WATSON. Born March 6, 1851, at Washington, D. C.; died at Ashtabula, Ohio, Dec. 17, 1876.

See Secretary's Report, No. 2 (1877), pp. 55, 56.

★ DAVID WATTS was born in Cumberland County, Penn., Dec. 5, 1852. He was the son of William Miles and Anna Matilda (Reed) Watts. He prepared for college at St. Paul's School, in Concord, N. H. (1865–1870) where he gained the reputation of a good student, and upright, manly, and cheerful companion, and an excellent cricket player, being on the first eleven of the school. He passed the examinations for admission to Harvard in July, 1870, and entered our class, from which he withdrew at the end of Freshman year, though he had passed all the examinations during the year with credit, and was deservedly popular. His chief reason for leaving college was to aid his father in business. He was catcher in our class nine in the match with the Yale Freshmen. He always maintained a deep interest in the class, and was a subscriber to the Class Fund.

In January, 1872, he entered the service of Henry McCormick, a large and influential manufacturer of iron in Harrisburg, Pa. In 1875 he was in charge of the main office of the Harrisburg Nail Works. In December, 1877, he was married to Marian Bastedo, daughter of Brua and Elizabeth (Bastedo) Cameron, and granddaughter of the late Senator Simon Cameron; five children were born to them, four of whom are now living. In January, 1881, he became interested in the manufacture of pig iron on his own account, still holding his position in the Harrisburg Nail Works. He was subsequently secretary and treasurer of the Swatara Furnaces, Fire Brick Hot Blast Stove Company, Derry Coal and Coke Company, Lochiel Furnace Company, and of the Kelker Street Market Company, being connected with the three last named companies at the time of his death. He was also secretary of the Whitwell Hot Blast Company, and president of the Harrisburg Fertilizer Company. He was, therefore, a prominent and active business man and was conspicuous for his progressive ideas.

He was a resident of Harrisburg from 1877 until the time of his death; was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of which he was a vestryman for the last ten or twelve years of his life.

In school, in college, and in more mature years, he had the unusual faculty of despising and rebuking all that was mean, and yet retaining a very large popularity. He was generous, courteous, sincere, and considerate of others, and was the very embodiment of everything that was manly. His frankness and truthfulness were so sincere and so tempered with kindness of heart that he was able to exert a large influence for good and to draw to himself a multitude of friends.

His sudden death at Harrisburg, of neuralgia of the heart, on Aug. 12, 1893, terminated his career at the height of his powers and influence. The best testimony of his worth to his old college friends is that twinge at the heart we feel as we try to reconcile ourselves to our loss. R. H. D.

HUGH LAWRENCE WHITE.

Writes as follows: "Has business interests in Williamsport, Pa., and in New York City. Is a member of the New York Alumni Association of Phillips Exeter Academy; is an active member of the New York Press Club, also of the New York Athletic Club; is a member of the Pennsylvania Society Sons of the Revolution, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, and the United Service Club of Philadelphia. . . ." Is married and has two children living. Resides at 511 West Fourth Street, Williamsport, Pa.

PERRY PENTZ WILLIAMS.

Has continued in business in New York City as a freight broker, in partnership with A. B. Terhune, Esq., under the firm name of Williams & Terhune, with offices in the New York Produce Exchange Building, 4 Broadway. Is married; his son, Hugh Nesbit Camp, died Oct. 18, 1890. Resides at Morris Heights, New York City.

★LINCOLN DEWEY WRIGHT. Born Feb. 25, 1853, at Chicago, Ill.; died at St. Louis, Mo., May 4, 1881.

See Secretary's Report, No. 4 (1884), p. 56.

★ DANIEL BECHTEL YOUNG, the son of Samuel Lessig and Louisa Elizabeth (Bechtel) Young was born at Reading, Pa., Nov. 25, 1852. He attended the public schools of Reading and Wyer's Academy at Westchester, Pa., was at Exeter for a while and finished his preparation for college with Professor Fernald at Springfield, Mass., being admitted at the examinations in July, 1870.

After leaving college at the end of our Sophomore year he studied law with his father until his admission to the bar, Jan. 10, 1876. He practised law in Reading until July, 1877, when he moved to Chicago and was admitted to the bar there. His knowledge of the German language secured him a good practice from the people of that nationality resident in Chicago. He died after a very brief illness of spinal consumption on March 12, 1893. He was never married.

Young's comparatively brief membership in the class and his strongly combative disposition prevented him from making many friendships. Careless of appearances and blunt in the expression of his opinions, he rarely did justice to his true qualities of mind and heart. It was his nature to champion the unpopular side, — he had a quick and ready sympathy for any one in trouble — and he would sacrifice everything to his convictions.

He had a decided taste and talent for music and was a good performer on the violin, being a member of the Pierian Sodality at Cambridge. As a subscriber to the Class Fund he evinced an interest in the class after he left us.

A gentleman who knew him quite intimately during the last years of his life writes of his "perfect honesty and uprightness, his hatred of all that was bad, his condemnation of all hypocrisy and his kind heart for the poor."

J. C. B.

Deaths.

Eugene Nelson Aston	February 23, 1878.
William Howard Baker	January 24, 1885.
James Jackson Cabot	June 13, 1875.
Arthur Clifford	February 26, 1881.
Thomas Corlies	January 19, 1894.
James Edward Ditson	August 7, 1881.
William Samuel Eliot	November 15, 1874.
Edward Mortimer Ferris	September 16, 1890.
Bernard Whitman Flagg	June 20, 1890.
George Irwin Haven	August 22, 1885.
Charles Franklin Knowles	February 29, 1880.
Frederick Howard Lombard	December 15, 1885.
Eugene Usher Mitchell	August 29, 1881.
Nicholas Reed	November 16, 1874.
Charles Wesley Savage	February 28, 1890.
Archibald Dick Thomas	March 25, 1881.
Henry Houghton Williams	June 20, 1876.

17

Julius Kenrick Adams	August 11, 1871.
Clarence Almy	July 6, 1883.
George Rockwell Kent	September 26, 1887.
Chauncey Edward Low	October 16, 1890.
Charles Austin Mackintosh	June 9, 1889.
Charles Edward Perkins	October 26, 1883.
Joseph Warren Warren	August 24, 1885.
Charles Horace Watson	December 17, 1876.
David Watts	August 12, 1893.
Lincoln Dewey Wright	May 4, 1881.
Daniel Bechtel Young	March 12, 1893.

11

MARRIAGES AND CHILDREN.

ABBOT, J. L.	AMELIA LYON ROSS	Mobile, Ala., March 10, 1881.
	Parkman Blake	April 4, 1882; d. July 29, 1882.
	Serena Lyon	Nov. 10, 1885.
	James Lloyd, 3d	Sept. 15, 1888.
ABBOT, W. F. . . .	CAROLINE WARD SEWALL	Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 28, 1882.
	Edmund Quincy	July 26. 1884.
	Hale Wellington }	July 30, 1885.
	Larcom }	July 30, 1885; d. Aug. 8, 1885.
	Miriam	April 17, 1890.
ALLEN	VIRGINIA COGGESHALL	Colorado Springs, Col., July 14, 1884.
BAKER, W.	MARGARET TENNEY	Winchester, Eng., 1892.
*BAKER, W. H. . .	MARY MORTON STEPHENS	Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22, 1877.
	Ruth Stephens	Jan. 25, 1882.
BANCROFT	SUSAN C. WOOD	Newton, Mass., Aug. 6, 1884.
	Charles Parker, Jr.	May 28, 1886; d. Sept. 29, 1887.
	Jeannette	Sept. 22, 1888.
	Elizabeth	May 17, 1891.
	Mariou	April 24, 1894.
BLANEY	ELLA A. FOWLE	Woburn, Mass., June 2, 1880.
	Marguerite Germaine	Feb. 15, 1884; d. Nov. 9, 1886.
	George	Oct. 9, 1886.
	Elizabeth	Feb. 21, 1890.
BRAINERD	MARY BELLA BEALE	Richmond, Va., May 30, 1882.
	Mary Beale	March 13, 1883; d. Aug. 3, 1883.
	Mary Beale	June 9, 1886.
	Elizabeth	April 14, 1888.
BRANNAN	EUNICE DANA	New York, N. Y., Nov. 9, 1882.
	Dana	Feb. 28, 1884.
	Philip Doddridge	Sept. 14, 1888; d. Oct. 26, 1888.
	Eleanor Doddridge	March 26, 1890.
BRIGGS	HELEN THORNTON TABER	New Bedford, Mass., June 8, 1892.
	Rose Thornton	May 26, 1893.
BRINSMADE	MARY GOLD GUNN	Washington, Conn.. Oct. 4, 1876.
	Frederick Gunn	March 8, 1882.
	William Bartlett	Jan. 4, 1884.
	Chapin	March 1, 1885.
	Eleanor	Nov. 15, 1886.
	Mary	Nov. 18, 1888.
	John Chapin, Jr.	Sept. 28, 1891.
	Charlotte Blake	Sept. 20, 1893.
BUFFUM	ELIZABETH NEWTON BRADLEY . . .	New York, N. Y., May 9, 1889.
BURDETT	MARGARET PATTERSON CROSBY . . .	Boston, Mass., June 1, 1892.
	Henry Morgan, Jr.	July 23, 1893.
BURNHAM	ALICE MUNROE	Paris, France, June 4, 1879.
	Alice Munroe	July 30, 1880.
	William Appleton, Jr.	June 12, 1882.
	Marian	Jan. 4, 1884.
	Frederic Munroe	July 19, 1888.
CATE, E. W.	MARY LOUISE DOTY	Keene, N. H., Oct. 25, 1883.
CATE, G. H.	LOIS CHASE READ	Jersey City, N. J., July 11, 1882.
	Sheriden Clavel	April 17, 1883.
	Herbert Addison	March 18, 1886.
	Dudley Chase	Oct. 4, 1890.
CHISHOLM	GERTRUDE TOZIER	Boston, Mass., Dec. 27, 1877.
	Andrew Tozier	March 27, 1879.
CLARK, H. A. . . .	SOPHY GERTRUDE MCCREARY . . .	Erie, Pa., July 18, 1878.
	Sophy Annette McCreary	July 13, 1880.
	Henry McCreary	Feb. 10, 1889.

Clark, L. C.	Marie De Forest Cannon	New York, N. Y., April 6, 1880.
	Louis Crawford, Jr.	Jan. 18, 1881.
	Grenville	Nov. 5, 1882.
	Mary De Forest	Feb. 27, 1885.
	Henry Cannon	Aug. 27, 1888.
	Julian Bouton	Oct. 6, 1891.
Clarke, C. C.	*Nellie M. Carter (d. Feb. 3, 1886),	Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 9, 1884.
Clarke, S. B.	Sarah Louise Rogers	Branford, Conn., Aug. 27, 1879.
	Edith Cornelia	May 8, 1881.
	Henry Rogers	Feb. 1, 1884.
*Clifford	Kate E. Parsons	Detroit, Mich., Feb. 5, 1880.
	Charles Parsons	Oct. 23, 1880.
Coale	Elizabeth Atkinson	Boston, Mass., Dec. 9, 1882.
	Marian	Oct. 30, 1883.
	William Edward	Jan. 4, 1887.
Cunningham	Hetty Sullivan Lawrence	Brookline, Mass., Dec. 11, 1877.
	Hetty Sullivan / Harriet Cutler	June 27, 1885.
	Constance	Sept. 8, 1886.
	Frederic, Jr.	Dec. 28, 1888.
	Susanna	March 19, 1890.
	Lawrence	Dec. 29, 1892.
Dana, P.	Mary Duncan Butler Duncan	New York, N. Y., Nov. 11, 1884.
	Janet Percy	May 29, 1886.
	Anderson	July 3, 1889.
	William Butler Duncan	Nov. 19, 1891.
Dana, R. H.	Edith Longfellow	Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 10, 1878.
	Richard Henry, Jr.	Sept. 1, 1879.
	Henry Wadsworth Longfellow	Jan. 26, 1881.
	Frances Appleton	May 25, 1883.
	Allston	Sept. 29, 1884.
	Edmund Trowbridge	Oct. 25, 1886.
	Delia Farley	Oct. 2, 1889.
Devens	Agnes Russell Elwood	Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 27, 1876.
	Agnes Dorothy	June 3, 1878.
	Arthur Lithgow, Jr.	Nov. 15, 1879.
	Elizabeth Elwood	April 12, 1881.
*Ditson	Henrietta Curtis Mixer	Boston, Mass., Oct. 2, 1877.
	James Edward	Oct. 20, 1878.
Dole	Helen James Bennett	Boston, Mass., June 28, 1882.
	Robert Montgomery	June 13, 1884.
	Arthur Alexander	March 14, 1886.
	Margaret Aliona	Jan. 26, 1891.
	Harold Sanford	March 30, 1893.
Dwight	Elizabeth Isabel	Boston, Mass., Jan. 12, 1887.
	Dorothy	July 15, 1888.
	Alfred Warren	July 28, 1889; d. May 4, 1893.
	Ruth	Jan. 18, 1891.
	Philip Joseph	March 16, 1892.
	Elizabeth	Feb. 24, 1894.
Dyer	Margaret Anne Macmillan	London, Eng., Nov. 23, 1889.
	Charles Volney	Dec. 23, 1890.
	Cecil Macmillan	Jan. 17, 1894.
Elliot, J. W.	Mary Lee Morse	Boston, Mass., May 8, 1883.
	John Morse	Nov. 5, 1891.
Elwood	Frederica (Pumpelly) Raymond	Rochester, N. Y., April 7, 1885.
	Dorothy	Feb. 8, 1890.
Farlow	Annie Hardon Burr	Newton, Mass., Sept. 21, 1877.
	Margaret	Aug. 22, 1880.
	John	Sept. 20, 1882.
Faulkner	Martha Barrett Ripley	Keene, N. H., June 29, 1880.
	Francis Barrett	July 12, 1881.
	Philip Handerson	May 30, 1883.
	Katharine Ripley	Jan. 31, 1889.

Fenollosa	Lizzie Goodhue Millett	Salem, Mass., June 12, 1878.
	Ernest Kano	June 20, 1880; d. April 7, 1887.
	Brenda	July 25, 1883.
*Ferris	Marion Yale	New York, N. Y., Dec. 11, 1879.
	Mortimer Yale	March 29, 1881.
	Cyrus Yale	Aug. 13, 1883.
	Raymond West	Dec. 4, 1885.
Fessenden	Kate Manilla Pratt	Southbridge, Mass., Dec. 4, 1885.
	George Russell, Jr.	June 28, 1887.
	Margaret Tebbetts	Sept. 20, 1891.
*Flagg	Lizzie Suggett	College City, Cal., May 3, 1887.
	Clarence Roland	Feb. 14, 1888.
Flanders	Anna Lillian Niles	Lawrence, Mass., June 5, 1884.
	A daughter	Mar. 24, 1885; d. Mar. 26, 1885.
	Miriam Nesmith	June 18, 1886.
	Bancroft	July 6, 1888; d. March 9, 1889.
	William Niles	July 26, 1889.
	Richard	March 22, 1891.
Foote	Kate Grant Knowlton	Boston, Mass., July 7, 1880.
	Katharine	Sept. 26, 1881.
Gannett	*Harriet F. C. Hastings (d. Dec. 31, 1889.)	Boston, Mass., Sept. 10, 1889.
Goodrich	Mary Eastman Bachelder	Concord, N. H., July 10, 1877.
	Nathaniel Lewis	Feb. 9, 1880.
	Hubert Baker	Sept. 11, 1887.
	Margaret Eastman	Feb. 11, 1889.
Grant, U. S.	Fannie Josephine Chaffee	New York, N. Y., Nov. 1, 1880.
	Miriam	Sept. 26, 1881.
	Chaffee	Sept. 28, 1883.
	Julia Dent	April 16, 1885.
	Fannie	Aug. 11, 1889.
	Ulysses Simpson, Jr.	May 23, 1893.
Green	Helen Lincoln Ware	Boston, Mass., June 29, 1876.
	Charles Montraville, Jr.	Nov. 12, 1878; d. Nov. 14, 1878.
	Robert Montraville	July 11, 1880.
Griffith	Jennie P. Serrill	Darby, Pa., Dec. 20, 1876.
	James Serrill	May 3, 1878.
	Henry Foster	Sept. 19, 1883.
Harding	Lucy Austin	Charlestown, Mass., Oct. 13, 1886.
	Francis Austin	Oct. 1, 1887.
Haynie	Ella R. Thomas	Washington, D. C., Jan. 30, 1889.
Higginson	Kate Strong	Erie, Pa., Sept. 25, 1884.
	Anne Storrow	April 26, 1887; d. July 24, 1892.
	Mary Hamot	May 7, 1889.
Hill	Amelia L. Foote	New Haven, Conn., April 30, 1878.
	Amelia Leavitt	Jan. 4, 1884.
Hodges, A. G.	Alice Woodward	New York, N. Y., Jan. 15, 1883.
	Amory	April 27, 1885; d. March 5, 1890.
	Edward Carroll	July 27, 1887.
	John King	Feb. 26, 1891.
Hodges, N. D. C.	Adèle Louise Goepper	Cincinnati, Ohio, May 13, 1886.
Hopkins	Mary Cheney Martin	Perkinsville, Vt., Feb. 7, 1877.
	Ernest Martin	Nov. 6, 1877.
	Louis Bertram	Aug. 11, 1881.
	Flora May	Oct. 4, 1889; d. June 12, 1890.
	Robert Carl	Nov. 24, 1890.
Hunt	Frances Emily Hitchcock	Boston, Mass., May 21, 1894.
Ivy	Sadie F. Hyde	Newton, Mass., July 28, 1881.
	Malcolm	Aug. 15, 1883.
	Mildred, Florence	April 1, 1885.
	Ruth	June 26, 1892.

KEITH	HELEN KENYON BENCHLEY	San Francisco, Cal., June 12, 1884.
	Monroe Benchley	March 14, 1885.
	Kenyon Arthur	June 7, 1886.
LAWRENCE	CAROLINE ESTELLE MUDGE	Boston, Mass., Jan. 16, 1875.
	Elizabeth Prescott	July 29, 1876.
	James, Jr.	Feb. 7, 1878.
	Richard	Sept. 19, 1879.
LAWTON	HELEN SPALDING MACK	Lowell, Mass., June 15, 1880.
	Richard Mack	Jan. 1, 1882.
	John Spalding	Oct. 9, 1886.
LEONARD	*ADA J. WEST (d. Feb. 10, 1882)	Cambridge, Mass., May 23, 1877.
	MAY TRUE MASON	Winchester, Mass., Sept. 12, 1883.
	Hiram West	Jan. 27, 1878.
	Ralph Davis	Aug. 6, 1886.
	Ray Mason	May 28, 1888.
LULL	HATTIE MAY CHASE	North Weare, N. H., Aug. 1, 1878.
	Isadore Chase	Jan. 6, 1882.
	Gertrude Chase	April 30, 1884; d. June 5, 1893.
LYMAN	*MARY SANGER (d. Sept. 5, 1890)	Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 21, 1884.
	Edward Hutchinson Robbins, Jr.	April 7, 1886; d. May 15, 1893.
MCGREW	LA DELIA CHAPMAN	Manahawkin, N. J., June 25, 1874.
	Clarence Alan	March 20, 1875.
	Ruth Esther	Dec. 23, 1879.
	Mary Edith	Jan. 18, 1882.
	Daughter (not named)	May 13, 1883; d. May 13, 1883.
MARSTON	MARGUERITE WOODRUFF	St. Catherine's, Can., Dec. 29, 1880.
	William Woodruff	Oct. 9, 1881.
	Peirce	Jan. 13, 1883.
MASON	NETTIE (NORRIS) THOMAS	Bangor, Me., Nov. 13, 1884.
	William Norris	Sept. 7, 1885.
MERRIAM	RUTH MARIA JOSEPHINE GRAHAM	St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 1, 1879.
MERRILL, H. F.	EMMA BURNETT HILL	Boston, Mass., Oct. 17, 1890.
	Helen Henrietta Burnett	Feb. 1, 1892.
MERWIN	ANNE AMORY ANDREWS	Boston, Mass., April 22, 1884.
MINOT	ELIZABETH WHITNEY	Milton, Mass., Oct. 30, 1884.
	George Richards	Dec. 2, 1885.
	James Jackson, Jr.	Nov. 17, 1891.
MORSE, H. B.	ANNIE JOSEPHINE WELSFORD	Richmond, Surrey, Eng., Feb. 8, 1881.
MORSE, H. L.	JESSIE FRANCES LIZZIE SCOTT	Montreal, Can., June 23, 1884.
	Jessie Gwendolen	Oct. 21, 1886.
MORSE, W. L.	ELLEN CORNELIA SPAULDING	Troy, N. H., May 1, 1877.
	Maria Louise	Feb. 25, 1878; d. Sept. 21, 1880.
	Pauline Hestia	July 26, 1882.
NEWTON	VIRGINIA M. (STRICKLER) KIRKWOOD,	Fort Stanton, N. Mex., Aug. 17, 1881.
	Virginia	Sept. 26, 1882; d. June 2, 1883.
	Richard	March 28, 1884; d. Jan. 18, 1888.
	Byerly	July 21, 1887.
	Paul	Jan. 23, 1889.
NICHOLS	MINERVA (PARKER) MAXWELL	Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22, 1891.
PARSONS	ELLA JANE TENNEY	Saugus, Mass., Oct. 16, 1878.
	Florence Rosamond	March 1, 1881.
PATTON	ANNA KELLY	Cambridge, Mass., April 15, 1885.
	John Sidney, Jr.	May 3, 1886.
	Elizabeth Edwards	Nov. 17, 1888; d. March 18, 1889.
	Margaret	April 28, 1893.
PENHALLOW	MARY COFFIN	Washington, D. C., April 28, 1881.
	Charles Sherburne, Jr.	Feb. 25, 1882.
	Helen Olcott	July 4, 1883.
	Eveline Blunt	March 16, 1885.
	Pearce Wentworth	May 20, 1888; d. Aug. 3, 1889.
	Louise Harrison	May 31, 1890.
	Mary Warner	Aug. 12, 1891.

PERKINS, W. M. . .	*JENNIE R. BEATTIE (d. June 20, 1882)	Somerville, Mass., Nov. 10, 1881.
	ELLA AUGUSTA CARR	Boston, Mass., Oct. 20, 1883.
	William Henry	June 14, 1882.
	Charles Edward	Dec. 26, 1885.
	Arthur Albert	April 16, 1888.
PERRIN	*MARY JOSEPHINE WILLIAMS (d. Jan. 18, 1890)	Walpole, N. H., Feb. 23, 1889.
	Harold Livingston	Dec. 22, 1889.
PIPER	ANNE PALFREY BRIDGE	Yellow Springs, Ohio, July 10, 1879.
	William Bridge	Nov. 21, 1880.
	Elizabeth Bridge	Sept. 19, 1883.
	Anne Taggard	Sept. 26, 1887.
	Ralph Crosby	Aug. 29, 1890.
RANDALL	GERTRUDE MEREDITH (HOLLEY) OLMSTEAD	Lakeville, Conn., April 29, 1891.
	Paul King	April 12, 1892.
*REED, N.	ELIZABETH THATCHER HILL	Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 27, 1874.
RICHARDSON	NELLIE F. NEWTON	Cambridge, Mass., May 3, 1882.
	Horace Williams	Oct. 19, 1883; d. Nov. 23, 1883.
	George Atwell	May 31, 1886.
RICHMOND	GRACE FAY HOOKER	Orange, N. J., July 14, 1891.
ROBERTS	LILLIAN ELLINWOOD TUCKERMAN . .	Austinburg, Ohio, Oct. 14, 1880.
	Robert Tuckerman	Jan. 17, 1882.
	Elizabeth Ellinwood	July 17, 1883.
	Emir	March 12, 1885.
	Dorothy	Sept. 14, 1887.
SAMPSON	ANNIE M. SAWYER	Charlestown, Mass., Dec. 1, 1881.
	Thompson Sawyer	April 23, 1886.
SANGER, G. P. . . .	SUSAN EMILY JEWELL	Boston, Mass., June 14, 1883.
SANGER, W. C. . . .	MARY ETHEL CLEVELAND DODGE . .	New York, N. Y., Feb. 23, 1892.
	William Cary, Jr.	Feb. 9, 1893.
	Henry Lawrence	April 13, 1894.
SAWYER	MARTHA COPP PAUL	Wakefield, N. H., Nov. 12, 1878.
	Robert William, Jr.	May 12, 1880.
	Eugene Mitchell	Jan. 9, 1882.
	Pauline	April 16, 1887.
SEWALL	MAY WRIGHT THOMPSON	Indianapolis, Ind , Oct. 31, 1880.
SILSBEE	SARAH FRANCES GRAY	Boston, Mass., Sept. 12, 1888.
	George Saltonstall, Jr.	Nov. 2, 1890.
	Elizabeth	Oct. 18, 1893.
SIMMONS	VESTA SCHALLENBERGER	London, Eng., Dec. 4, 1883.
	William Francis	July 2, 1884.
	George Bradford	Dec. 6, 1886.
SOUTHWORTH	MARY ELIZA FINNEY	Boston, Mass., Jan. 3, 1888.
SPINNEY	ANNIE GOODHUE WARD	Salem, Mass., Jan. 30, 1885.
STONE, C. W. . . .	*ELLEN MARY BUCKINGHAM	Boston, Mass., Oct. 2, 1877.
	ALICE STONE	Boston, Mass., Sept. 26, 1883.
	Alice Wellington	Sept. 28, 1884; d. March 27, 1889.
	Elsa Wellington	July 20, 1891.
STONE, E. P.	CLARA OLIVIA LELAND	Boston, Mass., Oct. 11, 1876.
	Ethel Florence	April 30, 1881.
	James Sidney	Nov. 13, 1883.
STONE, F. J.	MARGARET LOUISE HOLMES	Boston, Mass., Jan. 6, 1875.
	Dudley Field	Nov. 12, 1875; d. Feb. 27, 1876.
	Frederick Joseph, Jr.	Dec. 10, 1876; d. Sept. 7, 1881.
	Mary Field	Feb. 17, 1879.
	Margaret Holmes	July 12, 1881.
	Lawrence Hopkins	Jan. 22, 1884.
STRAUS	JULIA STERN	Baltimore, Md., Jan. 3, 1877.
	Bernard Philip	June 15, 1886.
	Lee H.	Dec. 21, 1888.
	Harry M.	March 20, 1891; d. Jan. 5, 1892.
	Rachel M.	May 16, 1892.

Swift	Sarah Rodman Rotch	New Bedford, Mass., July 8, 1876.
	Helen Rotch	June 12, 1877.
	Frederick Rotch	July 21, 1878.
	Rodman	Feb. 15, 1880.
Tuckerman	Ruth Appleton	New York, N. Y., April 15, 1880.
	Muriel	March 6, 1881.
	John Appleton	Nov. 26, 1883.
	Julia Appleton	May 17, 1888.
	Leverett Saltonstall	Dec. 2, 1892.
Tyler, C. T.	Daisy Lodge Reed	Columbus, Ohio, June 1, 1881.
	Katharine	May 12, 1882.
	Mary Lodge	March 3, 1884; d. April 14, 1885.
	Joseph Curtis	Dec. 19, 1886.
	Margaret	July 4, 1891.
Tyler, W. R.	Ellen Frances Krebs	Boston, Mass., June 28, 1883.
	Royall	May 2, 1884.
Vaille	Harriet Agnes Wolcott	Cleveland, Ohio, April 29, 1879.
	Harriet Wolcott	March 24, 1880.
	Edith Alice	Aug. 13, 1882.
	Agnes Wolcott	April 16, 1890.
Warner, W. P.	Hetty Rogers Goodwin	Boston, Mass., Oct. 28, 1885.
	Goodwin	Jan. 17, 1887.
	Dorothy Sherburne	Sept. 1, 1888.
	Margaret	Aug. 4, 1890.
Wellington	Clara Edwards	Roxbury, Mass., Sept. 23, 1879.
	Waldo Forster	Sept. 26, 1884.
Wendell	Helen Staniford	Roxbury, Mass., June 3, 1880.
	Mark Thaxter	Aug. 4, 1881.
	John Wheelwright	Nov. 20, 1885.
	Constant Minns, Dorothy Quincy	April 25, 1887.
	Percy	July 16, 1889.
Wheeler	Sarah Gorham Peirce	Newport, R. I., Jan. 30, 1883.
	Kate	June 6, 1884.
	Horatio Q.	March 24, 1890.
White, G. W.	*Emma Louise Adams (d. May 25, 1884)	Boston, Mass., Jan. 28, 1882.
Wigglesworth	Mary Catherine Dixwell	Cambridge, Mass., June 20, 1878.
	Anna Cornelia	April 7, 1879.
	Norton	Jan. 7, 1882.
	Marian Epes	June 4, 1884.
	Ruth	June 19, 1886.
	Richard Bowditch	April 25, 1891.
	Frank	Feb. 7, 1893.
Withington, C. F.	Georgiana Bowen	Roxbury, Mass., Sept. 20, 1883.
	Sidney, Robert	June 7, 1884.
	Margaret	Aug. 1, 1888.
	Paul Richmond	June 21, 1890.
Withington, D. L.	*Sarah E. Curtis (d. July 2, 1884)	Newburyport, Mass., July 6, 1880.
	Marietta Dennett Paul	San Diego, Cal., Feb. 2, 1887.
	Leonard, Jr.	March 10, 1884.
	Paul	Jan. 25, 1888.
	Lothrop	Aug. 23, 1889.
	Frederick Burnham	Feb. 10, 1891.
Woodward	Margaret Perley	Worcester, Mass., Sept. 16, 1884.
Wyman, J. P.	Mary Emma Squire	Arlington, Mass., Oct. 10, 1877.
	Mary Squire	Aug. 5, 1881.
	John Palmer, Jr.	July 15, 1884.
	Samuel Edwin, 2d	Feb. 17, 1887; d. March 6, 1890.
Wyman, S. E.	Annie Goodale Gooch	Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 18, 1880.

Married, 113. Children: Sons, 147; Daughters, 102. Total, 249. Deceased, 29.

*Almy	Anna Kirtley Bowen	Philadelphia, Pa., March 31, 1880.
Belmont	Bessie Hamilton Morgan	New York, N. Y., Nov. 29, 1881.
	August, Jr.	Nov. 20, 1882.
	A son	——
Bigelow	Alice Gray Merrill	Alfred, Me., Sept. 18, 1883.
Colesworthy	Eugenia Irene McIntyre	Chelsea, Mass., June 25, 1876.
	Nellie Irene	Oct. 31, 1877; d. Oct. 31, 1877.
	Daniel Clement	May 28, 1881.
Cram	Carrie Elizabeth Stone	Walpole, Mass., Nov. 17, 1882.
	Warner Stone	Sept. 17, 1883.
	Marjorie	June 1, 1885.
	Edward Stone	July 10, 1890.
	Chauncey Jerome	Nov. 10, 1893.
Hackett	*Etta E. Ballou (d. Feb. 15, 1880)	——
	Josephine A. Watson	July 13, 1881.
	Esther	May 2, 1882; d. May 9, 1883.
	Frederick Lee	Sept. 19, 1884; d. June 25, 1885.
*Kent	Sara Holgate Banker	Brooklyn, N. Y., July 9, 1881.
	Rockwell	June 21, 1882.
	Douglas	Feb. 6, 1884.
	Dorothy	March 2, 1888.
King	Lucy Wolcott Andrews	Chicago, Ill., Jan. 6, 1881.
	Ethel	March 2, 1882.
	Marjorie	June 30, 1883.
	McGregor Adams	Jan. 28, 1886.
	Andrews	April 17, 1889.
Krackowizer	S. Elizabeth Partridge	Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 5, 1879.
	Ernst	April 14, 1881.
	Emilie Aimee Lee	Aug. 26, 1883.
	Mary Parmelee	Oct. 16, 1888.
	Alice Elizabeth	Nov. 11, 1891.
*Low	Mary Thompson Frothingham	Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1875.
	Josiah Orne, Jr.	June 14, 1879.
	Mary Angeline	March 27, 1883.
	Nathalie Frothingham	Aug. 28, 1886.
Matthews	Louise Eldridge Lewin	Milton, Mass., Aug. 24, 1892.
Merrill, G. F.	Vester A. Towle	Bangor, Me., June 10, 1876.
	Charles Henry	Oct. 22, 1877.
	Beth W.	June 6, 1880.
	Hazel M.	July 14, 1885.
Ordway	Abbie L. Conant	Ipswich, Mass., Feb. 24, 1886.
Osgood	Mary Hobart Tower	Cohasset, Mass., Sept. 23, 1879.
	Ethel Lewis	June 21, 1880.
	Ronald Sewall	Sept. 10, 1883.
Ranney	Mary Suggett	Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1881.
Reed, W.	Ella Barton	Fall River, Mass., Nov. 30, 1876.
Shaw	Caroline Gertrude Bramwell	Dresden, Saxony, June 10, 1874.
	Gertrude Bramwell	Nov. 20, 1875; d. March 18, 1881.
	Samuel Parkman, Jr.	July 1, 1878.
	Herbert Bramwell	Feb. 11, 1888.
Stephens	Marietta L. Gibson	Sharpsburg, Pa., Oct. 7, 1874.
	Henry Calderwood	March 9, 1876.
	Stubert	March 20, 1880.
	Charles Emerson	March, 1883.
	Marie Louise	April, 1889; d. July, 1893.
*Watts	Marian Bastedo Cameron	Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 6, 1877.
	Anna Matilda	Jan. 8, 1879.
	Marian Bastedo	June 30, 1881.
	David, Jr.	Feb. 17, 1883.
	Janet Rogers Cameron	Oct. 29, 1884.
	Louisa Sergeant	Feb. 7, 1886; d. July 9, 1886.

White, H. L.	Euphemia A. DuBois	Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 15, 1874.
	Bessie G.	March 7, 1876.
	John, Jr.	Nov. 7, 1877; d. Jan. 14, 1879.
	Hugh Lawrence, Jr.	Oct. 28, 1879.
	Euphemia DuBois	March 24, 1882; d. Aug. 11, 1882.
Williams, P. P.	Maria Lefferts Camp	Fordham, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1881.
	Hugh Nesbit Camp	May 24, 1885; d. Oct. 18, 1890.

Married, 21. Children: Sons, 25; Daughters, 21. Total, 46. Deceased, 9.

OCCUPATIONS.

	Regular Members.		Temporary Members.
	1894.	1877.	1894.	1877.
Law	46	50	6	10
Business	32	30	16	17
Medicine	20	24	1	2
Teaching	19	22	–	1
Ministry	6	6	3	4
Farming or Ranching	2	–	–	–
In Chinese Customs Service	4	4	–	–
Student	2	8	–	–
Journalism	3	–	1	–
Music	1	1	–	–
Actor	–	1	–	1
Artist	1	1	–	1
Engineering	1	3	–	–
Travelling	–	2	–	–
Architecture	–	1	–	1
Railroading	–	1	–	–
Reading and Lecturing	2	–	–	–
No Occupation	8	3	3	1
Not Known	–	3	4	5
	147	160	34	43
Deceased	17	4	11	2
	164	164	45	45

CLASS FUND.

The subscriptions to the Class Fund have been as follows: —

1	subscription of	$300 00	$300 00
4	"	200 00	800 00
3	"	150 00	450 00
33	"	100 00	3,300 00
3	"	75 00	225 00
56	"	50 00	2,800 00
1	"	30 00	30 00
35	"	25 00	875 00
136	(of which ten are from former members)		$8,780 00
	Deduct on account of death of subscribers		70 00
			$8,710 00

These subscriptions were payable in five yearly instalments, and the last instalment was due in 1878. Since the report in 1889, three new subscriptions, amounting to $150, have been received, and paid in full. The amounts severally received and unpaid of the several instalments are as follows: —

	Amount received.	Amount due and unpaid.
First instalment	$1,756 00	——
Second "	1,736 00	$20 00
Third "	1,716 00	20 00
Fourth "	1,676 00	60 00
Fifth "	1,656 00	70 00
	$8,540 00	$170 00
Single subscriptions (six)	55 00
Total received from subscriptions	$8,595 00

At the time of the last report in 1889 the invested securities owned by the Class were as follows: —

		Due in
Two	$500 U. S. 4% coup. Bonds	1907
One	1,000 P., Gt. F. & C. R. R. 4½% Bond	1937
One	500 D., L. & No. R. R. 7% Bond	1907
One	1,000 Oreg. Sh. Line R. R. 6% Bond	1922
One	1,000 Ch. & W. Mich. R. R. 5% Bond	1921
One	1,000 So. Kan. R. R. (Gulf Div.) 5% Bond	1926
One	500 So. Kan. R. R. (Tex. Div.) 5% Bond	1927
One	1,000 Oreg. & Trans. Co. 6% Bond	1922
One	1,000 Marq., Ho. & Ont. R. R. 6% Bond	1923
One	1,000 K. C., F. S. & Memp. R. R. 6% Bond	1928

These securities were valued, June 13, 1889, at $9,572.50 and cost $8,861.87. The following changes have been made: The $1,000 Southern Kansas Railway 5% Bond and the $500 Southern Kansas Railway 5% Bond were deposited with the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad Company, by which the bonds were guaranteed, in accordance with plan of reorganization of the latter company, as by its circular of Oct. 15, 1889; and on March 18, 1890, there were received in exchange therefor $1,100 in new 4% First Mortgage Bonds and Scrip of Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad Company and $620 in new 5% Income Bonds and Scrip of same company. The $100 of 4% Bond Scrip and $120 of Scrip of the Incomes were sold, and the $500 5% Income Bond was subsequently (July 1, 1892) converted into a 4% Second Mortgage Bond of the company, as by its circular dated May 25, 1892. This second mortgage bond and the $1,000 first mortgage bond have defaulted on their last coupons.

In 1890 the $1000 Oregon and Transcontinental Company 6% Bond was sold at an advance over its cost and there were purchased one $1,000 Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf Railway Company 5% Bond (interest guaranteed by Union Pacific Railroad) and one $1,000 Boston United Gas Company 5% first mortgage bond. The former company has defaulted on its last two coupons. In 1893 the $1,000 Marquette, Houghton and Ontonagon Railroad Company 6% bond was called at 105 and there was purchased a $1,000 Consolidated Railroad of Vermont 5% first mortgage bond. The two $500 United States 4% bonds were sold also in 1893 and there was purchased one $1,000 Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad 5% bond (convertible into stock). The $500 Detroit, Lansing & Northern Railroad 7% bond defaulted on its interest due Jan. 1, 1894, and has been deposited under the reorganization circular of the company dated March 6, 1894, for exchange into a $500 4% first mortgage bond with $35 scrip of said bonds, and $200 6% first preferred non-cumulative stock and $50 scrip of such preferred stock.

The securities now owned by the class are as follows: —

			Due in
One	$1,000	P. Gt. F. & C. R. R. 4½ Bond	1937
One	500	D. L. & No. R. R. 7% Bond	1907
One	1,000	Oreg. Sh. Line R. R. 6% Bond	1922
One	1,000	Ch. & W. Mich. R. R. 5% Bond	1921
One	1,000	Atch., Top. & S. F. R. R. 4% Bond	1989
One	500	do. 4% 2d mtge. Bond	1989
One	1,000	K. C. Ft. S. & M. R. R. 6% Bond	1928
One	1,000	U. P., D. & G. R. R. 5% Bond	1939
One	1,000	Bos. Un. Gas Co. 5% Bond	1939
One	1,000	Cons. R'd of Vt. 5% Bond	1913
One	1,000	Ch. B. & Q. R. R. 5% Bond	1903

These securities were valued June 15, 1894, at $7,755.00, and cost over nine thousand dollars. There is also a deposit in the Union Safe Deposit Vaults in Boston, and cash on hand amounting to $909.02 which should be included in the assets of the class. The sum of $1,000 was paid in 1892 from the Class Fund towards the expense of the stained glass window in Memorial Hall.

At the end of this report (pp. 94, 95) will be found the statement, giving in detail the receipts and expenditures on account of the Class Fund for the past five years. The account has been audited and approved by the committee, consisting of Sampson, Farlow, and Piper, appointed at the meeting on Commencement Day in 1893 for that purpose.

CLASS SUBSCRIPTION FUND.

The subscriptions to the Class Subscription Fund have been as follows: —

2	subscriptions of	$200 00	$400 00
2	"	100 00	200 90
17	"	50 00	850 00
21			$1,450 00
Deduct on account of death of subscribers			55 00
			$1,395 00

These subscriptions were payable in ten yearly instalments, and the last instalment was due in 1884. The amounts severally received and unpaid of the instalments are as follows: —

	Amount received.	Amount due and unpaid.
First instalment	$125 00	$20 00
Second "	125 00	20 00
Third "	120 00	25 00
Fourth "	120 00	25 00
Fifth "	115 00	25 00
Sixth "	105 00	30 00
Seventh "	105 00	30 00
Eighth "	105 00	30 00
Ninth "	105 00	30 00
Tenth "	105 00	30 00
	$1,130 00	$265 00

There has been paid over, in behalf of the class, to the Committee of the Alumni having charge of this fund, also sometimes called the " College Fund," the sum of $1,124. As there have been no receipts or expenditures on account of this fund since the last report in 1889, there is no occasion for further accounting.

The amount subscribed to this fund having been so small it was suggested orignally, in the report of 1884, that an additional sum be raised by the class for the purpose of placing a stained glass window in Memorial Hall. Several of the class became greatly interested in the matter, and by their efforts, the plan was successfully carried out.

MEMORIAL HALL WINDOW.

The following report of the committee on the Class Window in Memorial Hall, which was presented and accepted at the class meeting on Commencement Day, 1892, was sent to each member of the class, under date of July 16, 1892, and describes the admirable work of Simmons so well carried out under the supervision of the committee: —

Classmates: Your committee have the pleasure of reporting that the class window is now in its place in Memorial Hall. Briefly, the steps taken by your committee in the matter of the window have been as follows: —

They first sent a circular to all the members of the class, making inquiry: first, whether they favored having a class window; second, what amount they would contribute towards it; third, whether they favored appropriating one thousand dollars from the Class Fund, if it should prove necessary. They also entered into correspondence with Simmons, and learned from him that he would undertake the work, provided that enough money could be raised to insure thoroughly good material and workmanship in carrying out his designs. The replies to the circular were overwhelmingly in favor of having the window, and of paying for it by subscription, and drawing on the Class Fund to the extent of one thousand dollars, if that should prove necessary. Further efforts were then made to secure subscriptions; but it was found that the thousand dollars from the Class Fund would be absolutely essential to the success of the undertaking. The amount subscribed was subsequently called for, and most of it was paid in, and thereupon arrangements were made with Simmons by which he agreed to come to America and give his personal attention and supervision to the construction of the window.

It was thought best to do this rather than to have the window made abroad, for three reasons: —

First. Because, under the recent tariff legislation, the custom house officials warned us that the window, if made abroad, would be subject to a very heavy duty.

Second. Because the American glass was believed to be superior to the foreign in this, that in the American glass the shading is mostly produced by variations in the thickness of the glass, and the only portions of the window which have to be painted are the flesh tints; whereas, in the European glass, much more paint is employed.

Third. Because, if the work was to be done here, it was manifestly of great advantage that Simmons should be here to superintend it, conferring with Messrs. Ware and Van Brunt, the architects of the building, when necessary, and having the other windows in Memorial Hall within easy reach for comparison.

Owing to other work which he had undertaken, Simmons was not able to come to this country until the spring of 1891. He then gave himself to the work of our window with enthusiasm; but as Commencement of that year drew near he stated to the committee that, while it was possible to finish the window at once, he very much desired further time in order to do full justice to the work and to himself. The completion of the window was accordingly postponed to the present year.

The subject selected for the window was the reconciliation of Themistocles and Aristides, the night before the battle of Salamis, and the idea intended to be embodied is that of reconciliation. This was selected both because of the paramount importance of the reconciliation of the North and the South at the close of the war, and because the time of the graduation of the class made this subject an appropriate one. When it is remembered that our class numbers among its members men who proved their devotion to the respective causes of the North and the South by service in the field, the appropriateness of the subject becomes still more striking.

The principal panels of the window contain the figures of Aristides and Themistocles together with subordinate figures. The circumstances of their reconciliation were these: Aristides had been ostracized by his countrymen; but on the night before the battle of Salamis, impelled by the desire to aid his country in the time of her peril, he made his way through the lines of the enemy at the risk of his life, seeking reconciliation with his former antagonist, Themistocles, and an opportunity to support his country's cause in the impending battle. His noble words uttered at the time of his meeting with Themistocles are inscribed in the small panels at the base of the window and may be paraphrased, "Our rivalry now and hereafter must be only in devotion to our country's good."

How admirably Simmons has done his part and how well his designs have been carried out by the Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company of New York you may see and judge for yourselves; but it may interest you to hear what Mr. William R. Ware, a most competent as well as most discriminating critic said in a recent letter. He wrote, "The window itself is in a fair state of advancement and is of great promise. Simmons is keeping his promise in the matter of care and pains, and devotes himself to it daily. Moreover, the Tiffany people are much impressed with his capacity and the aptitude with which he has taken to the technicalities. They say he goes at it as if he had done glass all his life." And at the close of his letter Mr. Ware adds that it looks as if we were going to get something very superior.

The expenses connected with the window, as nearly as they can now be ascertained, are as follows: —

Edward E. Simmons, professional services	$1,000 00
Tiffany Glass and Decorating Co.	1,500 00
Messrs. Ware & Van Brunt	250 00
Printing and Stationery	33 68	$2,783 68

The receipts have been as follows: —

From subscriptions already paid in	$1,384 25
Interest received on deposits	23 50
From Class Fund	1,000 00	2,407 75
Balance guaranteed, and to be paid in when needed		$375 93

It is pleasant to realize that our window is the first one in the hall designed by a member of the class presenting it.

Your committee trust that you will approve what has been done, and will feel, as they do, sincere satisfaction in the thought that this gift by the class has not only added beauty to the college and associated the class with that building which is in many senses the central one in the college life, but also has helped to embody for future times the idea, good alike for all times and all people, that of unselfish devotion to one's country.

George Wigglesworth.
C. C. Clarke. (By G. W.)
Edward Higginson.
William R. Tyler.
Paul Dana.
Charles M. Green.

RECORD OF MEETINGS SINCE LAST REPORT.

Class Dinner (Fifteenth Anniversary), June 25, 1889.

The class dined at the Parker House, in Boston, on the evening of June 25, 1889, on the occasion of the fifteenth anniversary of graduation. Fifty-five classmates were present. Crocker presided. Songs and informal speeches only were indulged in. The singing was unusually successful, owing to the efforts of Foote, who had provided a collection of college songs, printed under his direction for the use of the class.

Twentieth Meeting, June 26, 1889.

This was the annual Commencement meeting, and was held in Cambridge, at Holworthy 4. Called to order at 12 M.

The Class Secretary formally presented his fifth printed report, which was accepted. In this report appeared the result of the examination by the committee, consisting of Cunningham, Green, and W. P. Warner, of the books and accounts of the class, which were duly approved, and the accounts found to be properly vouched. The committee also found the securities owned by the class to be as stated in the said account. The matter of the class being represented in Memorial Hall by a stained-glass window was brought again to the attention of the class, and after a lengthy discussion it was Voted, That a committee of three, consisting of Wigglesworth, C. C. Clarke, and Higginson, be appointed to take charge of the whole matter, and that a canvass of the class be made by them, and if favorable to the plan, that the amount required should be sought to be raised, in the first instance by subscription, and that any balance necessary should be taken from the Class Fund, and the Committee are further authorized to draw on the Class Secretary for the amount required for printing and postage.

It was also voted, on motion of C. C. Clarke, that the thanks of the class be extended to Mason for the large Penobscot salmon sent this year and last year, for the collation in the class room on Commencement Day. Some discussion followed, on a motion that champagne be hereafter provided at class dinners at the expense of the Class Fund, and on motion the matter was laid on the table.

Adjourned. George P. Sanger, Jr., Secretary.

Twenty-first Meeting, June 25, 1890.

This was the annual Commencement meeting, and was held as usual in Cambridge at Holworthy 4. Called to order at 12 M.

The financial statement for the past year, presented by the Class Secretary, was read and accepted.

The tribute to the memory of Charles Wesley Savage, who died Feb. 28, 1890, was submitted in behalf of the committee consisting of Goodrich, E. W. Cate, and D. L. Withington. This tribute and the memorial notice,* written by Goodrich, were accepted, and on the statement of the Class Secretary that, as soon as received by him, they were printed and sent to the family of the deceased, and to each member of the class, no further action was necessary.

The committee consisting of Wigglesworth, Higginson, and C. C. Clarke, in charge of the proposed stained-glass window in Memorial Hall, reported through its chairman that, upon careful inquiry they had ascertained that the sentiment of the class was strongly in favor of the project, and, therefore, that the committee felt warranted in proceeding to carry out the plan as authorized by the Commencement meeting in 1889, and recommended that an amount not exceeding one thousand dollars be appropriated from the Class Fund towards the expense of the window. The report was accepted and it was voted to appropriate the sum of one thousand dollars for the purpose, and to increase the committee to six members. Green, P. Dana and W. R. Tyler were subsequently added to the committee.

Adjourned. George P. Sanger, Jr., Secretary.

Twenty-second Meeting, June 24, 1891.

This was the annual Commencement meeting, and was held as usual in Cambridge at Holworthy 4. Called to order at 12 M.

The statement of the class finances for the past year was presented by the acting Class Secretary and accepted.

The tribute to the memory of Bernard Whitman Flagg, who died June 20, 1890, was presented in behalf of the committee, consisting of Flanders, Nichols, and Merrill. This tribute and the memorial notice* written by Flanders, were accepted, and, it being stated that the Class Secretary had sent printed copies to the family of the deceased and to each member of the class, no further action was necessary. Similar action was taken on the tribute* to the character of Edward Mortimer Ferris, who died Sept. 16, 1890, presented in behalf of the committee, consisting of C. F. Withington, Fessenden, and S. E. Wyman, and on the memorial notice written by C. F. Withington, which had also been printed and sent to the family of the deceased and to each member of the class.

* It is not deemed advisable to print the tribute in this report. It is recorded in the Class Book. The memorial notice is printed elsewhere in this report.

The report of the committee on the Memorial Hall Window was made by Wigglesworth, chairman, and the report was accepted. Simmons, who had undertaken the conception and execution of the design, explained the condition of the work and exhibited a photograph of his drawing and expressed his intention of having the window in Memorial Hall during the winter.

Adjourned. CHARLES S. PENHALLOW, Secretary.

CLASS DINNER, JUNE 28, 1892.

The class dined at Hotel Vendome in Boston on June 28, 1892, at 7 P. M. Forty-seven classmates were present. Wigglesworth, Fenollosa, P. Dana, E. H. Sears, and Lawton spoke briefly, and the musical programme was looked after by Foote and Cunningham.

TWENTY-THIRD MEETING, JUNE 29, 1892.

This was the annual Commencement meeting, and was held as usual in Cambridge at Holworthy 4. Called to order at 12 M.

The financial statement for the past year, presented by the Class Secretary, was read and accepted.

The communication from the Committee of the Alumni, seeking subscriptions for the purpose of equipping the Soldier's Field, was submitted by the Class Secretary and circulated among the members present; also the communication from the committee having in charge the new Graduates Magazine, asking the class for funds towards the payment of the preliminary expenses. The latter was laid on the table.

The committee on the Class Window in Memorial Hall reported in writing that the window was in place. A description of the window and a statement of the expense were also contained in the report, which was accepted and the committee was discharged. The Class Secretary was requested, by vote of the meeting, to have the report printed and sent to each member of the class, and to express to Simmons the entire satisfaction of the class with his design and its execution under his supervision. It was also voted that the committee procure a reproduction of the design of the window to be sent to the class, if a copy, colored or otherwise, could be reasonably made, which in their opinion would do justice to the admirable work of Simmons.

It was also voted, on motion of Faulkner, that the thanks of the class be extended to Penhallow for performing so acceptably the duties of the Class Secretary during the latter's absence from the country, in 1891.

Adjourned. GEORGE P. SANGER, Secretary.

TWENTY-FOURTH MEETING, JUNE 28, 1893.

This was the annual Commencement meeting, and was held as usual in Cambridge, at Holworthy 4. Called to order at 12 M.

The report of the Class Secretary as to the finances of the class, the past year, was read by him, and a committee, consisting of Sampson, Farlow, and Piper, was appointed to examine the books and accounts of the class, with particular reference to the period since the last examination, June 13, 1889; to approve the same, if found correct, and to report their action at the meeting on Commencement Day next year.

The committee on the Class Window in Memorial Hall, who were requested at the Commencement meeting last year to send to the class a colored or other reproduction of the window, if deemed expedient by them, reported in writing through Wigglesworth, chairman, that after careful inquiry, the expense of a suitable colored reproduction being so great, they did not feel warranted in acting further in the matter. The report was accepted, and the committee was discharged. The Class Secretary stated that, in compliance with the vote of last year's meeting, he had mailed under date of July 16, 1892, to each member of the class, the report in print of the committee on the Class Window in Memorial Hall.

A committee consisting of Tuckerman, Blaney, and A. G. Hodges was appointed to make all necessary arrangements for, and to have entire charge of the dinner in 1894, on the occasion of the Twentieth Anniversary of our graduation.

Adjourned. GEORGE P. SANGER, Secretary.

ADDRESSES.

[Notify the Class Secretary at once of any change or error.]

ABBOT, JAMES L., Jr., care Lesser Cotton Company, St. Louis, Mo.
ABBOT, WILLIAM F., 26 William Street, Worcester, Mass.
ALLEN, RICHARD M., Ames, Neb.
BABCOCK, FRANCIS E., 10 East Brookline Street, Boston, Mass.
BAKER, Rev. WALTER, D. D., East Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio.
BANCROFT, Dr. CHARLES P., Concord, N. H.
BARRETT, HARRY H., Box 13, Malden, Mass.
BENDELARI, Prof. GEORGE, 65 West Seventieth Street, New York City.
BETTENS, THOMAS S., 130 West Eighty-seventh Street, New York City.
BLAIR, WOODBURY, Room 47, Corcoran Building, Washington, D. C.
BLANEY, GEORGE A., 204 Sears Buildiug, Boston, Mass.
BRAINERD, ERASTUS, Bailey Building, Seattle, Wash.
BRANNAN, Dr. JOHN W., 54 West Eleventh Street, New York City.
BRIGGS, GEORGE R., Plymouth, Mass.
BRINSMADE, JOHN C., Washington, Litchfield County, Conn.
BROWNE, ALEXANDER P., 82 Water Street, Boston, Mass.
BUFFUM, Dr. CHARLES T., 5 East Twenty-seventh Street, New York City.
BURDETT, HENRY M., Union League Club, New York City.
BURNHAM, WILLIAM A., 40 Water Street, Room 12, Boston, Mass.
BURRY, WILLIAM, 184 La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill.
CARY, THOMAS, 184 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.
CATE, EDWARD W., 943 Exchange Building, Boston, Mass.
CATE, Rev. GEORGE H., West Newton, Mass.
CHISHOLM, HENRY A., 2055 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.
CLAPP, ARTHUR B., care Dr. H. C. Clapp, 11 Columbus Square, Boston, Mass.
CLARK, HENRY A., 704 State Street, Erie, Pa.
CLARK, LOUIS C., 21 West Forty-seventh Street, New York City.
CLARKE, CHARLES C., care Commissioner of Customs, Shanghai, China.
CLARKE, SAMUEL B., Root & Clarke, 32 Nassau Street, New York City.
COALE, GEORGE O. G., 85 Water Street, Boston, Mass.
COLLINS, FREDERIC K., 10 Centre Street, Cambridgeport, Mass.
CROCKER, HENRY H., 51 Wall Street, New York City.
CUNNINGHAM, FREDERIC, 909 Exchange Building, Boston, Mass.
CUTTER, FREDERICK S., 273 Harvard Street, Cambridgeport, Mass.
DANA, PAUL, The Sun, 168 Nassau Street, New York City.
DANA, RICHARD H., 906 Exchange Building, Boston, Mass.
DEVENS, A. LITHGOW, 4 Post-Office Square, Boston, Mass.
DOLE, NATHAN H., care T. Y. Crowell & Co., 100 Purchase Street, Boston, Mass.
DORR, GEORGE B., 18 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass.
DWIGHT, Dr. JAMES, 225 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.
DYER, Prof. LOUIS, Sunbury Lodge, 68 Banbury Road. Oxford, Eng.
ELLIOT, Dr. JOHN W., 124 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

Elwood, Frank W., 253 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.
Farlow, Dr. John W., 234 Clarendon Street, Boston, Mass.
Farrar, J. Hamilton, 492 Webster Avenue, or 90 La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill.
Faulkner, Gen. Francis C., Keene, N. H.
Fenollosa, Prof. Ernest F., Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Mass.
Fessenden, Dr. George R., Ashfield, Franklin County, Mass.
Flanders, Dr. Frank B., 617 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass.
Foote, Arthur W., 2 West Cedar Street, Boston, Mass.
Forster, Horace W., care A. D. Hitch, Esq., 112 Front Street, New York City.
Gannett, Dr. William W., 274 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass.
Goodrich, Arthur L., Salem, Mass.
Goodwin, Wendell, University Club, New York City.
Grant, Henry R., 5 Mount Vernon Place, Boston, Mass.
Grant, Ulysses S., Salem Center, Westchester County, N. Y.
Green, Dr. Charles M., 78 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass.
Griffith, Samuel B., Mercer, Pa.
Harding, Herbert L., 89 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Haynie, William Duff, Deadwood, South Dakota.
Higginson, Edward, Box 454, Fall River, Mass.
Hill, Edward B., 45 Wall Street, New York City.
Hodges, Amory G., Halsted & Hodges, 31 Broad Street, New York City.
Hodges, Nathaniel D. C., Science, 874 Broadway, New York City.
Honeywell, Thomas M., Evansville, Ind.
Hopkins, Rev. Adoniram J., North Uxbridge, Mass.
Hunt, William D., 308 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.
Ivy, Jesse C., 113 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass.
Jones, Walter I., Hubbard Park, Cambridge, Mass.
Keith, Arthur M., 37–42 Minnesota Loan and Tr. Co. Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.
Lawrence, James, Groton, Mass.
Lawton, Hon. Frederick, 71 Central Street, Lowell, Mass.
Leland, William S., 27 School Street, Room 22, Boston, Mass.
Leonard, Rev. Joel M., 100 Washington Street, Malden, Mass.
Lowell, James D., 19 Front Street, Schenectady, N. Y.
Lull, Herbert W., Quincy, Mass.
Lyman, Frank, 50 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.
McCann, Michael J. (care of the Class Secretary).
McGrew, Gifford H. G., 71 Wallace Street, Cambridge, Mass.
McMillan, William G., 306 Sibley Street, Cleveland, Ohio.
Marston, William S., 1021 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Md.
Mason, Dr. William C., 132 Hammond Street, Bangor, Maine.
Merriam, Edwin G., Equitable Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Merrill, Henry F., care Commissioner of Customs, Shanghai, China.
Merwin, Henry C., Concord, Mass.
Mills, Ethelbert S., 150 Montague Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Minot, Dr. James J., 188 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass.
Morse, Dr. Henry L., 112 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass.
Morse, Hosea B., care Commissioner of Customs, Shanghai, China.
Morse, William L., Marlborough, Mass.
Moses, Theodore W., 138 East Fortieth Street, New York City.
Mudge, Henry S., care Wm. Minot, Esq., 39 Court Street, Boston, Mass.

Newton, Dr. Richard C., 71 North Fullerton Avenue, Montclair, N. J.
Nichols, Rev. William I., 1616 Mount Vernon Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Parsons, John, 1228 Corona Street, Denver, Col.
Patton, John S., 518 Exchange Building, Boston, Mass.
Penhallow, Charles S., 206 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.
Perkins, William M., 6 Rush Street, Somerville, Mass.
Perrin, Prof. Marshall L., Wellesley Hills, Mass.
Peters, Edward G., care E. D. Peters, Esq., 19 Central Street, Boston, Mass.
Pickering, Arthur H., 64 Dudley Street, Roxbury, Mass.
Piper, Dr. William T., 179 Brattle Street, Cambridge, Mass.
Primer, Dr. Sylvester, 704 Colorado Street, Austin, Tex.
Randall, Frank E., Aldrich Court, 45 Broadway, New York City.
Richards, Dr. Huntington, St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
Richards, William R., 2 Marlborough Street, or 27 State Street, Boston.
Richardson, George C., Old Colony Building (10th floor) Chicago, Ill.
Richmond, The Rev. William, Orange Valley, N. J.
Riddle, George, 6 Arrow Street, Cambridge, Mass.
Rives, Arthur L., 1723 I Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.
Roberts, Rev. Henry B., Torrington, Conn.
Sampson, Calvin P., 9 Greenough Avenue, Jamaica Plain, Mass.
Sanger, George P., 940 Exchange Building, Boston, Mass.
Sanger, William Cary, Sangerfield, Oneida County, N. Y.
Sawyer, Robert W., Bangor, Maine.
Sears, David, 420 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.
Sears, Edmund H., Mary Institute, St. Louis, Mo.
Sewall, Theodore L., 343 North Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, Ind.
Shepard, Dr. George C., El Cajon, San Diego County, Cal.
Silsbee, George S., 40 Water Street, Boston, Mass.
Simmons, Edward E., care Prof. James B. Thayer, Cambridge, Mass.
Southworth, Hon. Robert A., 48 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.
Spinney, William F., care Commissioner of Customs, Shanghai, China.
Stone, Charles W., 68 Chestnut Street, Boston, Mass.
Stone, Edwin P., 33 High Street, Boston, Mass.
Stone, Frederick J., 60 Broadway, New York City.
Straus, Henry L., 6 South Street, Baltimore, Md.
Swift, Frederick, 66 Broadway, New York City.
Tuckerman, Charles S., Old Colony Trust Company, Boston, Mass.
Tyler, Columbus T., Box 356, Seattle, Wash.
Tyler, H. Blake, 201 South Fifteenth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Tyler, William R., 7 Saville Avenue, Quincy, Mass.
Vaille, Frederick O., Lexington, Mass.
Van Nest, G. Willett, 62 Wall Street, New York City.
Walker, Dr. Edward W., 96 West Eighth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Warner, William P., 29 Exchange Building, Boston, Mass.
Wellington, Edward W., Ellsworth, Kansas.
Wendell, Frank T., Wendell, Fay & Co., 37 Franklin Street, Boston, Mass.
Wheeler, Dr. William A., U. S. M. H. S., Ellis Island, New York Harbor.
White, George W., 48 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.
Whitehouse, Edward L., Augusta, Maine.
Wigglesworth, George, 89 State Street, Room 91, Boston, Mass.

Withington, Dr. Charles F., 1 Elm Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass.
Withington, David L., 26–29 Pierce Morse Building, San Diego, Cal.
Woodward, Dr. Samuel B., 58 Pearl Street, Worcester, Mass.
Wyman, John P., 23 Fayette Street, Cambridgeport, Mass.
Wyman, Dr. Samuel E., 2 Mt. Auburn Street, Cambridge, Mass.

Temporary Members.

Ashburner, George, 37 Kensington Park Garden West, London, England.
Barstow, Charles F., care Mrs. E. E. Clark, 41 West Street, Boston, Mass.
Belmont, August, 23 Nassau Street, New York City.
Bigelow, Charles W., Solon, Maine.
Colesworthy, William G., 66 Cornhill, Boston, Mass.
Collins, Edward F., 258 Washington Street, Room 14, Boston, Mass.
Cram, Arthur N., Walpole, Mass.
Davison, E. Mora, care Aug. Belmont & Co., 23 Nassau Street, New York City.
Hackett, Frederic A., 51 Franklin Street, Allston, Mass.
Hall, Arthur D., care George D. Hall, Esq., Medford, Mass.
Hoyt, Goold, 45 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.
Keenan, James, 1202 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.
King, Rockwell, 218 North Union Street, Chicago, Ill.
Krackowizer, Dr. E. W., 733 Cass Street, Milwaukee, Wis.
Matthews, Francis H., 252 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.
Merrill, Dr. George F., Kennebunkport, Maine.
Ordway, Rev. Otis O., East Haverhill, Mass.
Osgood, Rev. Edmund Q. S., 20 Albion Street, Hyde Park, Mass.
Pope, Rev. Louis A., Newburyport, Mass.
Porter, William L., Adirondack, Warren County, N. Y.
Ranney, John R., 781 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.
Reed, Waldo, Reed & Barton Corporation, Taunton, Mass.
Scott, Charles O., the Lennox, Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.
Secor, Thomas E., Pelham Manor, Westchester County, N. Y.
Shaw, S. Parkman, Milton. Mass.
Stephens, Rev. David S., Box 260, Pittsburg, Pa.
Warner, Eugene F., 48 Custom House Street, Providence, R. I.
Washburn, Henry T., 3 Evandale Terrace, Savin Hill, Dorchester, Mass.
White, Hugh L., 511 West Fourth Street, Williamsport, Pa.
Williams, Perry P., Williams & Terhune, 4 Broadway, New York City.

The addresses of the following temporary members are not known: Crane, Fallon, Fetridge, and B. C. Reed.

CLASS

Dr. GEORGE P. SANGER, in account with 1889.

June 13, Balance from former account			$935 16
June 14, 1889 — June 24, 1890.
Subscriptions	$30 00
Interest on invested securities	464 76
Interest on balance in Union Safe Deposit Vaults	13 17
		507 93
June 25, 1890 — June 23, 1891.
Interest on invested securities	$493 23
Interest on balance in Union Safe Deposit Vaults	13 50
		506 73
June 24, 1891 — June 28, 1892.
Interest on invested securities	$500 00
Interest on balance in Union Safe Deposit Vaults	11 78
		511 78
June 29, 1892 — June 27, 1893.
Subscriptions	$170 00
Interest on invested securities	509 21
Interest on balance in Union Safe Deposit Vaults	10 93
		690 14
June 28, 1893 — June 14, 1894.
Subscriptions	$20 00
Interest on invested securities	418 75
Interest on balance in Union Safe Deposit Vaults	12 46
		451 21
INVESTMENT ACCOUNT.
1890.
July 16. Sale $1,000 Oreg. & Trans. Co. 6% bond		$1,045 00
" $100 Atch. Top. & S. F. R. R. 4% bond scrip } " $120 " " " " 5% Income " }		163 75 1893.
May 16. Sale $1,000 Marq. Ho. & Ont. R. R. 6% bond (called)		1,050 00
Aug. 3. " $1,000 U. S. 4% bonds (two $500 bonds)		1,080 00
		3,338 75
			$6,941 70
June 14, 1894. To balance*	$909 02

* This balance is made up as follows: —

Cash on deposit in Union Safe Deposit Vaults	$881 13
Cash on hand	27 89

FUND.

CLASS OF 1874. June 13, 1889 — June 14, 1894. Cr.

June 14, 1889 — June 24, 1890.
Class Dinner at Parker House, Boston, June 25, 1889	$211 20
Commencement Day Meeting, June 26, 1889	90 85
Printing Fifth Report of Class Secretary	145 45
Printing collection of College Songs	42 54
Other printing, postage, stationery, etc.	54 06
Union Safe Dep. Vaults, rent box one year from Oct. 1, 1889,	10 00
		$554 10
June 25, 1890 — June 23, 1891.
Commencement Day Meeting, June 25, 1890	$86 00
Printing (three bills), postage, etc.	42 68
Union Safe Dep. Vaults, rent box one year from Oct. 1, 1890,	10 00
		138 68
June 24, 1891 — June 28, 1892.
Commencement Day Meeting, June 24, 1891	$90 20
Printing, postage, etc.	13 46
Union Safe Dep. Vaults, rent box one year from Oct. 1, 1891,	10 00
		113 66
June 29, 1892 — June 27, 1893.
Class Dinner at Hotel Vendome, Boston, June 28, 1892	$219 55
Commencement Day Meeting, June 29, 1892	90 13
Printing, postage, etc.	21 40
Union Safe Dep. Vaults, rent box one year from Oct. 1, 1892,	10 00
		341 08
June 28, 1893 — June 14, 1894.
Commencement Day Meeting, June 28, 1893	$88 00
Printing, postage, etc.	32 71
Union Safe Dep. Vaults, rent box one year from Oct. 1, 1893,	10 00
		130 71
		$1,278 23

Investment Account.

1890.
Aug. 15.	Bought $1,000 U. P. D. & G. R. R. 5% bond, @ 88 flat	$880 00
	Commission on purchase of same	2 50
			$882 50
	" $1,000 Bost. Un. Gas Co. 5% bond, @ 93	$930 00
	Commission on purchase and accr. int. on same,	8 61
			938 61
1893.
May 19.	" $1,000 Cons. R. R. of Vt. 5% bond @ 95	$950 00
	Accrued interest on same	19 17
			969 17
Aug. 4.	" $1,000 C. B. & Q. R. R. 5% bond @ 94	$940 00
	Commission on purchase and accr. int. on same,	24 17
			$964 17
			$5,032 68
1892.
June 8.	Geo. Wigglesworth for Comm. on Mem'l Hall Window,		1,000 00
			$6,032 68
	Balance to new account		909 02
			$6,941 70

Boston, June 15, 1894. We have this day examined the above account, find it to be correct and properly vouched, and hereby approve the same. We have also examined the securities belonging to the class and find them to be as stated on page 82.

Calvin P. Sampson,
John W. Farlow,
Wm. Taggard Piper, } Committee.